Senate Dems Give Nixon Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have signaled President Nixon that an all-out drive to cut off Vietnam war funds will begin unless the Paris peace talks produce a settlement by Jan. 20.

This became clear as Senate Democrats, matching the step taken two days earlier by their House colleagues, voted 36 to 12 Thursday in favor of a strongly worded proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to cut off war funds immediately.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, promptly reiterated his determination to move quickly if Nixon's Jan. 20 inauguration passes without an agreement.

"The time for debate—and delay—is past," Fulbright said. "I believe that Congress can and should act decisively immediately after the inauguration." Two bills seeking to cut off war funds within 60 days, one sponsored by a group of 20 senators headed by Republican Edward W. Brooke and Democrat Alan Cranston and the other pushed by Democrat George McGovern and Republican Mark O. Hatfield, were introduced in the Senate, which twice last year voted to cut off funds in four months provided American prisoners were freed.

The new antiwar steps came despite statements from the White House, and its Senate allies, that the congressional moves might endanger the talks resuming in Paris Monday between presidential aide Henry Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho.

The war question could be raised at the White House today when congressional leaders from both parties meet for breakfast with Nixon.

The announced subject was economic policy, particularly the wage-price controls which are scheduled to expire April 30.

Either the Brooke-Cranston or the McGovern-Hatfield proposal could be attached as an amendment when the year's first appropriation bill, extending funds for foreign aid to the end of June, is considered in Congress next month.

The first effort to focus a congressional hearing on the war collapsed in discord Thursday when the administration failed to provide a witness for a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee session on effects on U.S.-European relations of the recent American bombing of North Vietnamese cities.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R.

Laird agreed, however, to testify next Monday before the House Armed Services Committee, which in the past has heavily backed the administration's handling of the war.

The Democratic caucus also approved assignment of members to Senate committees. It largely went along with the recommendations of its steering committee but decided to expand the Foreign Relations Committee to make room for both McGovern and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Families Get Word On POWs

In their bamboo prison cages deep in the jungles of South Vietnam, the four men were given pen and paper. They scratched brief messages of greetings to their loved ones.

On Wednesday these letters were

And for four more American families the postman would bring the news that for many many months they had hardly allowed themselves to believe — their men were still alive. "God bless you! Oh, God bless you!"

exclaimed Mrs. Virgil O'Connor when she picked up her phone at home in Warren, Mich., to learn that a letter from her son Michael was on the way. He was a U.S. army warrant officer shot down in his helicopter on Feb. 4, 1968, during the Tet offensive battle for Hue.

Two months later a released prisoner reported seeing him alive. But in the five years since then, the O'Connors had received not one word about him. He is now 25.

Now a 10-line letter was on the way, brought back to America by an American delegation that visited Hanoi during Christmas.

Mrs. Orvis Parsells of Sarasota, Fla., was unbelieving when The Associated Press called her Thursday to say that a letter from her 27-year-old son John would be arriving soon. The organization that had arranged the mail exchange with Hanoi, the Committee of Liaison with Families of American Prisoners of War in Indochina, had been unable to reach Mrs. Parsells with the news.

"I'm hoping and praying you're telling the truth," she said, as her husband listened at another line. "John was shot down in his helicopter on February 5, 1970," she said. "The Pentagon told us he was a prisoner of war, apparently his name was broadcast once over Radio Hanoi, but this will be the first word from him."

Another letter was from Jose Manuel Astorga of San Diego, Calif. His mother was not at home Thursday but neighbors said he was shot down May 1, 1972, and his mother had been advised by the Pentagon that he was alive.

The fourth letter was from Bruce Raymond Archer. His relatives in Pensacola, Fla., were not reachable on Thursday.

The four letters were among a total of 600 brought back from Hanoi by the American delegation. Their significance was that they came from prisoners held in South Vietnam by the Vietcong.

Americans captured in battle in the south have been swallowed up in the jungles. They have become as phantom-like as their captors, the Vietcong, and their fate has been a matter for conjecture.

Hundreds of Americans are missing in South Vietnam, but only a few more than a score of them have written to relatives. Prisoners who have been released in the south, or who escaped, talk of cage-like bamboo prisons, of long treks through the jungles to avoid detection by allied ground troops, of poor food.

Agnew Said Working For Bakers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Small bakery operators, who claim they will go bankrupt unless the administration approves a sharp increase in bread prices, say Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is quietly working on their behalf.

Baltimore baker Richard E. Koester says Agnew promised the Independent Bakers Association at a meeting last month that he would try to ease the price squeeze on small bakers.

The bakers say they need an increase of at least 2.5 cents per loaf to offset higher flour prices caused by a big drain on U.S. wheat, due mainly to the record sale of one-fourth the crop last year to the Soviet Union.

"He was very cognizant of the problem and seemed to be on top of it," Koester told The Associated Press. "We have not heard any official word from the Price Commission, however."

The IBA, which represents an estimated 400 to 600 independent wholesale bakers, asked Agnew's help after soaring wheat prices last year forced flour prices to record levels. Wheat, which brought $1.32 per bushel on the farm last July, rose to $2.38 per bushel by mid-December, the largest six-month increase in 80 years.

The price of flour at Kansas City in late December was $7.85 per 100 pounds, compared with $5.55 a year earlier.

Koester heads a price-relief committee of the IBA.

299 U.S. War Dead Reported During Year 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon lists 299 Americans killed in action in the Vietnam war last year, fewer than fell in a single week back in 1968 when U.S. troops were in the thick of the ground war.

The 1972 toll was the lowest in eight years, since before the United States began bombing North Vietnam in 1965 and then sent its own infantry and other forces into the fighting on a major scale.

A Pentagon report shows 45,928 Americans killed in Southeast Asia action between Jan. 1, 1961, and Dec. 30, 1972.

The U.S. casualties started out on a very small scale in 1961 and 1962 and, as might be expected, vaulted as U.S. involvement in South Vietnam progressed from advising Saigon's forces to assuming the main burden of the ground fighting.

U.S. killed-in-action totaled 42 in 1961 and 1962 together, rising to 78 in 1963, 147 in 1964, to 1,369 in 1965, 5,008 in 1966, to 9,378 in 1967 and a peak of 14,592 in 1968, the year of the great Tet offensive.

In many weeks during 1968 U.S. battle deaths totaled in the 300, 400 and even 500-plus range. The worst week saw 562 American battle deaths during the seven days ended May 11, 1968. The killed-in-action totals started downward in 1969, the year President Nixon began the gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam. The U.S. combat death count in 1969 was 9,414. It was more than halved in 1970, to 4,221, and dropped sharply again in 1971 to 1,380.

While the U.S. battle toll came to 299 in 1972, the South Vietnamese recorded 37,566 combat deaths, and allied forces, principally South Koreans, suffered 442.

The Pentagon summary showed that 131,675 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were slain in South Vietnam in 1972. However, statistics on enemy casualties are gathered principally from South Vietnamese sources and are regarded with some reservation by many U.S. officers.

According to the Pentagon summary, South Vietnamese regular forces lost 180,676 men over the past 12 years. Allied countries other than the

Expansion Of China Trade Slow, Expected To Grow

NEW YORK (AP) — "Made in China." That's the new chic label to have at home and American merchants report that business is slow now, but they expect the China market will grow.

Some already think it's there. In New York, Alexander's department store reports a shipment of silk pajamas from The People's Republic of China was sold in one morning. In Dallas, Nieman-Marcus says its mainland goods are going "hand over fist."

"I think the market has a great deal of potential," says Bruce Houghton, buyer for the Bon Marche chain in Washington and Oregon. But he added that it needs a great deal of development.

From January to November of this year, imports totaled $29.5 million, the U.S. Department of Commerce reports.

"China shops" are popping up in department stores and art galleries across the country since the United Nations admitted The People's Republic of China and trade subsequently was opened with the United States. Some are advertising with a loud boast that the goods came from "Red China." Others haven't decided if that's proper strategy with which to lure the capitalist dollar.

Death Call Brings Opposition

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says it will call for a mandatory death penalty for "cold-blooded, premeditated" crimes, but a Democratic Senator is proposing a bill that would leave imposition of the death sentence up to the jury.

The two opposing viewpoints could presage a major congressional battle over use of capital punishment. And opponents of the death penalty already have begun to form battle lines.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst announced Thursday that the administration will seek legislation requiring the death penalty for such crimes as kidnapping, assassination, bombing a public building, killing a prison guard and air hijacking.

Meanwhile, Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark., introduced a bill that would reinstitute the death penalty, but only if a defendant, in the course of a serious crime, intentionally takes another person's life. The jury would decide guilt and punishment separately.

Kleindienst suggested at a news conference that a mandatory death penalty, where the jury in effect decides guilt and imposes punishment at the same time, would be acceptable at the Supreme Court. The court ruled 5 to 4 last summer that because the death penalty has been applied unevenly in state and federal courts, it violates the constitutional ban against cruel and unusual punishment.

Included on the Senate subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures, which would handle such a bill, are two ardent Democratic opponents of capital punishment, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

fairly well received because they're inexpensive, although we didn't go to great lengths to identify the goods as being from Red China," says Houghton.

The best-selling items seem to be inexpensive hand-made goods, gifts between $20 and $30. Also popular are the authentic worker's suit, yours for $25, bamboo graters for $4 and baskets and bowls. Hand-painted eggs, $10 to $11, are also top sellers.

And then there's the doll, a set of needles and instructions on how to perform your very own doll acupuncture.

Buyers generally rave about the quality of Chinese workmanship, pointing out that China is one of the last areas in the world offering hand-made goods. An employee of the Neiman-Marcus art gallery department in exclusive Bal Harbour, Fla., views the objects d'art quite differently.

"The workmanship just isn't very good," sniffed Beverly Francis. "It's very shoddy work. People look but they are not buying much."

Rhodes To Bare Political Plans Before Feb. 1

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Gov. James Rhodes pledged Thursday to let his future political ambition be known by Feb. 1.

Rhodes, talking to newsmen prior to addressing a meeting of the Capital City Young Republican Club, strongly indicated the governorship was on his mind, but didn't rule out the possibility of a U.S. Senate race.

"I haven't ruled anything out or ruled anything in—I am just like I was in 1971 when I left office. I haven't made my mind up what I'm going to do."

Rhodes' appearance before the 50 young Republicans was the first of two during the night. He later spoke before the Ohio Association of Fair Managers holding an annual convention here.

Rhodes said if he decides to run for governor he would take legal action in the Ohio Supreme Court to determine if the constitution prohibits him from seeking the office again.

Rhodes held the governorship for two, consecutive, four-year terms.

Several political sources have indicated that Rhodes may run for the Senate seat now held by William Saxbe. Saxbe has indicated he may not seek reelection.

There have been efforts on the part of some of Saxbe's friends for him to challenge Democrat John Gilligan for the governorship.

Rhodes, during his 30-minute chat with newsmen, refused to be drawn into any clash with either Gilligan or Saxbe.

He was asked about critical comments both had made against President Nixon within the past few days.

Gilligan charged Nixon with not doing enough to alleviate the problems of Ohio farmers whose crops have been damaged by wet weather. Saxbe accused Nixon of having "lost his senses" in resuming the bombing of North Vietnam.

Rhodes said he had not followed developments on either topic. "I've never been one of open hostility and name calling," he added.

The ex-governor said he had been busy with his development firm of James A. Rhodes and Associates and not thoroughly studied breaking political developments. The firm is involved in motel building and securing factory sites. It has 22 employees.

Asked by a newsmen to comment on a recent Gilligan remark that he would not like to have Rhodes as an opponent because the ex-governor was still popular in Ohio, Rhodes said:

"I think he used good judgment. My wife would say the same thing."

Post Service Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — "For a while, people accepted and joked about bad mail service," says Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., "but it's no longer funny to anyone—it's a serious problem."

But the Postal Service claims in a report on its 1972 operations Thursday it has improved the quality of mail services and reduced costs.

Rogers has asked the House Post Office Committee and the General Accounting Office to investigate the new postal system which changed from a department to the semi-independent Postal Service last July 1. It has the mandate to become self-sustaining by 1984.

"All Americans, if they had to grade postal service," Rogers said Thursday, "would give a big 'F' for failure to improve. The quality has deteriorated rather than improved."

He said the new system has not improved service and cut costs.

However, in submitting the first annual report to the service's board of governors since the reorganization, Postmaster General E. T. Klassen said total income provided 84 per cent of total costs, up from an average 80 per cent for the three-year period 1969-1971.

Revenue of $7.8 billion in fiscal year 1972 was matched against operating expenses of $9.5 billion, with a record 87.2 billion pieces of mail last year, Klassen said.

He said 94 per cent of first-class mail deposited by 5 p.m. and destined for local delivery "is being delivered the next day."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices remained sharply higher but drifting today.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was up 7.45 at 1047.26, little changed from a half-hour earlier.

Advances led declines less than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said hopes for an improving economy and progress in high-level peace talks, which are to resume next week, were fueling the rally.

"The undertone is strong," said Bradbury K. Thurlow, analyst with Laidlaw & Co.

The Big Board index at noon was up .25 to 65.42, and the Amex price-change index was up .06 to 26.69.

Infant Has Heart Surgery; Traveling Clinic Credited

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Unusual heart surgery at the age of two months has given new health to little Jefferey Cox. His rare heart defect was spotted at a traveling mountain clinic.

Jefferey was born with a condition called an aorto-pulmonary window. There was a hole between the two main arteries leading from his heart.

Children with this kind of heart defect, which causes high blood pressure in the lungs, seldom live more than a year.

The solution — open heart surgery — had apparently never been performed on a child as young as Jefferey. A University of Kentucky doctor said the youngest child known to have undergone such surgery was four months old.

The doctor, who asked not to be identified, said Jefferey's condition was diagnosed in time because of his mother and a clinic the university operates in rural communities.

"These traveling clinics are wonderful things," the doctor said. "You've got to remember that a child in a big city can get the proper diagnosis of a defect like this but in the rural mountains it just isn't usually possible."

Mrs. Willie Cox, whose husband is a construction worker in eastern Kentucky's Knott County, said she suspected something was wrong shortly after Jeffery was born.

"He didn't grow any, his color was bad and when he'd take a bottle he'd perspire a lot," she said.

Mrs. Cox's doctor examined the baby, found a slight heart murmur and suggested she take the baby to the traveling clinic.

There were 80 children at the clinic the day Mrs. Cox went. The doctor there told her that Jefferey needed surgery immediately.

The doctors didn't delay. Jefferey underwent open heart surgery at the university's medical center Dec. 21 and is doing fine now.

Jefferey had a respirator to help him breathe easily for the first few hours after the operation, special postoperative care for a few days and now is not far from being able to return to his home at Mousie, Ky.

County Board Names Lindsey Prexy; Formulates Summer Workshop Program

Pickaway County Board of Education in its organizational meeting last evening re-elected Harold Lindsey president and Nelson Jones vice-president for 1973.

The board established the first Thursday of each month as the meeting date for regular meetings to be held at the county superintendent's office. The Board meets at 7:30 p.m. the first three months of the year, 8 p.m. the next six months and 7:30 p.m. the last three months.

Nelson Jones was appointed for a four year term to serve on the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School Board beginning Jan. 1, 1973.

In other action, the board authorized the county superintendent to submit a plan to the State Department of Education in cooperation with Ohio State University to sponsor a two-week workshop this summer. Theme of the workshop will be centered around Career Education.

If the plan is accepted, it will be a federal funded program with teachers receiving a minimum stipend a day for expenses and may receive college credits.

The board voted to continue liability insurance with the Republic Franklin Insurance Company for board members.

A testing procedure for screening and testing children by the school psychologist was approved.

Upon recommendation of Superintendent Martin, the board approved a sick leave and personal leave policy for all county office personnel.

A statistical report from the Pickaway County Health Department in regard to communicable diseases reported during 1972 among students in the county schools and a report from the State of Ohio Department of Health in regard to the dental health educational program conducted at Pickaway and Darby Elementary Schools were presented.

Board members present were: Wendell Evans, Nelson Jones, John Little, and Harold Lindsey.

Deputy Saves Life By 'Doing My Job'

"It was just routine. I was doing my job," said Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Larry Holt after being labeled a hero by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff for possibly saving the life of an 18-year-old Circleville woman, a prisoner in the county jail, who became ill Thursday.

A matron, serving lunch, told Deputy Holt that Brenda Mumaw complained of being sick. The jailer found her lying on the floor of her cell.

"She was gasping for breath and having convulsions when I got there," Holt related. "I picked her up and placed her on the cot, but she stopped breathing. So I administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to revive her. Then, John (Deputy John Bost) and I carried her to the ambulance and she was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment."

The woman was treated at the hospital for hyper-ventilation and returned to her cell later Thursday with no apparent serious injuries.

As a precaution, she was checked every hour Thursday night. Her condition was reported as good Friday.

She was placed under detention on a hold order by Common Pleas Court for contempt after she failed to appear at a hearing to answer charges of destruction of property. Deputy Holt reported that she was taken to the hospital Wednesday night for treatment of a possible kidney infection.

The 25-year-old deputy lives at Route 1, Ashville. He has been with Sheriff Radcliff's department for five months after serving a year and a half as a Ross County Deputy.

Irish Group Declares War On Assassins

BELFAST (AP) — The commander of a militant Protestant organization declared war today on the sectarian assassins — both Protestant and Roman Catholic — terrorizing Northern Ireland.

James Anderson, head of the Ulster Defense Association, warned: "We will stamp out these killers no matter which religion they follow. It is getting out of hand." His organization is the most powerful of the paramilitary Protestant groups.

According to police, 82 Catholics and 40 Protestants have been murdered by the so-called "butchers of Belfast" in the past year. The 2 to 1 preponderance of Catholics indicates that there are more Protestant assassins than Catholics.

Tommy Herron, the UDA's second in command, said the UDA knows who the assassins are and will "eliminate" them if the killing continues.

Meanwhile, another Protestant was assassinated Thursday night near Londonderry. He was a 50-year-old captain in the Ulster Defense Regiment who had just come home from a tour of duty with the militia. He answered a knock at the door, and his killer fired a shotgun into his face at point-blank range.

Another Protestant living in a Catholic district of Londonderry escaped injury when gunmen fired 10 shots into his car.

The British kept up its crackdown on Protestant militants. A 17-year-old Belfast youth, Lawrence Turner, was charged with belonging to the Ulster Volunteer Force, the most feared of the Protestant vigilante groups.

Turner was the first person charged with belonging to the UVF since it was outlawed in 1967.

Security Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased security procedures to guard against airplane hijackings go into effect at some 500 airports today.

The procedures include electronic screening of all passengers and inspection of carry-on packages and luggage, including ladies' handbags.

The Air Transport Association Recommends that passengers arrive at airports a little earlier than before in order to allow time for the inspection delays.

Find All Bodies

In Mine Disaster

BLACKSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Atmospheric tests were to begin inside Consolidation Coal Co.'s Blacksville No. 1 shaft mine today, following recovery of the bodies of nine men trapped by fire and explosions last summer.

Four of the bodies were brought to the surface of the northern West Virginia mine Wednesday night, and recovery crews completed the search with the discovery Thursday evening of the remaining five victims. The men had been entombed since July 22, 1972.

The bodies discovered Wednesday were located in an escapeway between the A-2 and A-3 sections of the mine. A Consol spokesman said all nine of the men were wearing emergency respirator units when found.

MISS HELEN ATER

Miss Helen Ater, 68, Columbus, died early Thursday at her Dana Ave. home following a brief illness.

Born April 20, 1904 in New Holland, she was the daughter of William and Minnie Hulette Ater.

She lived in the New Holland community until 1945 when she moved to Columbus. She was a member of the West Park United Methodist Church.

Surviving are a brother, Fred, of Columbus, one sister, Mrs. Daniel (Jerry) Sells, of Dublin, nieces and nephews.

Services will be 1:30 p.m. Sunday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland, with Rev. Prentiss Spear officiating. Burial will be in New Holland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 3 p.m. Saturday.

Passenger Train

Jumps Track; No One Injured

RANDOLPH, Vt. (AP) — An eight-car Amtrak passenger train headed from Montreal to Washington jumped the track here early today, state police said. None of the 95 passengers or 10 crew members were reported injured.

The engineer told police he was going south under normal conditions when he noticed a siding switch was left open. He said he could not bring the train, The Washingtonian, to a stop, but he did slow it considerably.

When the train hit the switch, all cars and the two engines derailed, but remained upright.

Passengers were taken by bus from the accident scene to New Haven, Conn., to make further connections.

Police Turn Down Pay Raise Proposal

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—East Liverpool police have rejected the city's latest wage proposal, which would have provided an 18 per cent wage hike over the next three years.

Police staged a sickout late last year, but returned after city council agreed to a 10 per cent wage hike in 1973.

MY MINUTE MESSAGE

HOW MAY I KNOW THAT I HAVE EVERLASTING LIFE? Let us not look or listen to any source other than God's Word for the answer to this question, lest we be led astray. This is a vital question. The answer must be correct. We cannot afford to depend upon a past experience, or a past faith. We know if we presently and truly believe. "He that believeth (present continuous tense) on the Son hath (present) everlasting life." (John 3:36). "And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom Thou hast sent." (John 17:3). Genuine faith and true knowledge always include obedience. "And hereby we do know that we know Him, if we keep His commandments. He that saith, I know Him, and keepeth not His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him." (1 John 2:3,4). "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." (1 John 3:14). Let no person suppose that he possesses eternal life if he has not love for all men. "If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar." (1 John 4:20). "If that which ye have heard from the beginning shall remain in you, ye also shall continue in the Son, and in the Father. And this is the promise that He hath promised us, (based on our continuance in Him), even eternal life." (1 John 2:24,25). Come unto Him, and trust in Him, that you may have life.

Find All Bodies In Mine Disaster

BLACKSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) — Atmospheric tests were to begin inside Consolidation Coal Co.'s Blacksville No. 1 shaft mine today, following recovery of the bodies of nine men trapped by fire and explosions last summer.

Four of the bodies were brought to the surface of the northern West Virginia mine Wednesday night, and recovery crews completed the search with the discovery Thursday evening of the remaining five victims. The men had been entombed since July 22, 1972.

The bodies discovered Wednesday were located in an escapeway between the A-2 and A-3 sections of the mine. A Consol spokesman said all nine of the men were wearing emergency respirator units when found.

Passenger Train Jumps Track; No One Injured

RANDOLPH, Vt. (AP) — An eight-car Amtrak passenger train headed from Montreal to Washington jumped the track here early today, state police said. None of the 95 passengers or 10 crew members were reported injured.

The engineer told police he was going south under normal conditions when he noticed a siding switch was left open. He said he could not bring the train, The Washingtonian, to a stop, but he did slow it considerably.

When the train hit the switch, all cars and the two engines derailed, but remained upright.

Passengers were taken by bus from the accident scene to New Haven, Conn., to make further connections.

Police Turn Down Pay Raise Proposal

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—East Liverpool police have rejected the city's latest wage proposal, which would have provided an 18 per cent wage hike over the next three years.

Police staged a sickout late last year, but returned after city council agreed to a 10 per cent wage hike in 1973.

Deputy Saves Life By 'Doing My Job'

"It was just routine. I was doing my job," said Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Larry Holt after being labeled a hero by Sheriff Dwight Radcliff for possibly saving the life of an 18-year-old Circleville woman, a prisoner in the county jail, who became ill Thursday.

A matron, serving lunch, told Deputy Holt that Brenda Mumaw complained of being sick. The jailer found her lying on the floor of her cell.

"She was gasping for breath and having convulsions when I got there," Holt related. "I picked her up and placed her on the cot, but she stopped breathing. So I administered mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to revive her. Then, John (Deputy John Bost) and I carried her to the ambulance and she was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment."

The woman was treated at the hospital for hyper-ventilation and returned to her cell later Thursday with no apparent serious injuries.

As a precaution, she was checked every hour Thursday night. Her condition was reported as good Friday.

She was placed under detention on a hold order by Common Pleas Court for contempt after she failed to appear at a hearing to answer charges of destruction of property. Deputy Holt reported that she was taken to the hospital Wednesday night for treatment of a possible kidney infection.

The 25-year-old deputy lives at Route 1, Ashville. He has been with Sheriff Radcliff's department for five months after serving a year and a half as a Ross County Deputy.

Irish Group Declares War On Assassins

BELFAST (AP) — The commander of a militant Protestant organization declared war today on the sectarian assassins — both Protestant and Roman Catholic — terrorizing Northern Ireland.

James Anderson, head of the Ulster Defense Association, warned: "We will stamp out these killers no matter which religion they follow. It is getting out of hand." His organization is the most powerful of the paramilitary Protestant groups.

According to police, 82 Catholics and 40 Protestants have been murdered by the so-called "butchers of Belfast" in the past year. The 2 to 1 preponderance of Catholics indicates that there are more Protestant assassins than Catholics.

Tommy Herron, the UDA's second in command, said the UDA knows who the assassins are and will "eliminate" them if the killing continues.

Meanwhile, another Protestant was assassinated Thursday night near Londonderry. He was a 50-year-old captain in the Ulster Defense Regiment who had just come home from a tour of duty with the militia. He answered a knock at the door, and his killer fired a shotgun into his face at point-blank range.

Another Protestant living in a Catholic district of Londonderry escaped injury when gunmen fired 10 shots into his car.

The British kept up its crackdown on Protestant militants. A 17-year-old Belfast youth, Lawrence Turner, was charged with belonging to the Ulster Volunteer Force, the most feared of the Protestant vigilante groups.

Turner was the first person charged with belonging to the UVF since it was outlawed in 1967.

MASTER THOMPSON
Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson (Coleen Crabtree), 218 Cedar Heights Road, are the parents of a 6-pound 11-ounce son born 8:45 p.m. Thursday in Berger Hospital.

Federal Food Stamp Program Starts Here

The Ohio Department of Public Welfare's new program for handling Federal Food Stamps will become effective February 1 in Pickaway County. The project is expected to save money for welfare clients and reduce operating cost.

Pickaway County welfare recipients who purchase Food Stamps may have their stamps mailed to them from the State Welfare Department and have the purchase price deducted from their monthly assistance checks. The recipient must apply for this new service at the local welfare office, which is located at 109 East Mound Street, Circleville.

Security Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increased security procedures to guard against airplane hijackings go into effect at some 50 airports today.

The procedures include electronic screening of all passengers and inspection of carry-on packages and luggage, including ladies' handbags.

The Air Transport Association recommends that passengers arrive at airports a little earlier than before in order to allow time for the inspection delays.

Russians Nix Tricia Pictures

MOSCOW (AP) — An Associated Press photographer taking pictures of President Nixon's daughter Tricia in Leningrad today was forced to expose his film by Soviet plainclothes police who said they were acting on American orders.
The American consul in Leningrad, who was reached by telephone, said the action was "not — repeat, not —" taken at American request.
Police approached photographer Boris Yurchenko as he waited outside St. Isaac's cathedral for Tricia Nixon Cox and her husband. The police checked Yurchenko's papers and then ordered him to expose two rolls of film which included shots of the Coxes on their way to the cathedral.

Report Student Trouble In Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — The government, reacting to clashes Wednesday between riot police and hundreds of students, has ordered Egypt's 250,000 university students to take an extra week of vacation.

Several thousand students are on a sit-down strike inside Cairo University, demanding greater freedom of expression and release of students jailed earlier.

Several hundred of them tried to march from the campus to downtown Cairo on Wednesday, but the police drove them back with clubs and tear gas. The students fought back with stones and bricks, and the battling continued most of the afternoon.

Mrs. Viola Hartman visited last Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lauderdale, Route 4, Circleville.

Mrs. Mae Rhymer, Stoutsville, spent Thursday with her daughter, Mrs. Hartman.

As Chairman of the Program Committee for Senior Citizens of Pickaway County, Mrs. Viola Hartman announces there will be a band practice the second and fourth Wednesday of each month, at 1 p.m. at the Senior Center, 430 Lancaster Pike, Circleville.

All interested persons are to bring pie pans, spoons, wash boards, combs or any object that will make music. If no such object is available, come anyway, and an "instrument" will be provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Spung hosted the Christmas meeting of the Truth Seekers Class of the Methodist Church at their home on Saturday evening.

After a carry-in supper, the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Betty McKunkin. The Rev. Ralph Malcomb read the Christmas Story from Luke and led in prayer.

Members are asked to bring food and household items to the church on Sunday. These will be taken to the 20th Century Crusade Home for boys at Sugar Grove, which is in charge of the Rev. Levon Shaum.

A special collection will be taken by the class, the first Sunday of each month, to be given to the Crusade Home.

A gift exchange followed the business meeting.

Those attending the meeting were the Rev. and Mrs. Malcomb and Carolyn, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerns, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fogler and Eric, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McKunkin, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rhymer, Ann Stevens, Lucia Spangler, Ella Mae Jenkins and Anne Spung.

Following Sunday dinner at Norma's Restaurant in Laurelville, afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones were Mr. and Mrs. Orland DeLong and Mr. George Macklin of near Laurelville and Mrs. Joseph Bitzer of Columbus.

Guests for a New Year's Day buffet dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Jones were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jones, K. C. Jones,

Report Student Trouble In Cairo

CAIRO (AP) — The government, reacting to clashes Wednesday between riot police and hundreds of students, has ordered Egypt's 250,000 university students to take an extra week of vacation.

Several thousand students are on a sit-down strike inside Cairo University, demanding greater freedom of expression and release of students jailed earlier.

Several hundred of them tried to march from the campus to downtown Cairo on Wednesday, but the police drove them back with clubs and tear gas. The students fought back with stones and bricks, and the battling continued most of the afternoon.

Cooled Celebration

By coincidence—certainly not design—the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics began its second half century of existence on a note of disappointment and deprivation. Those are not unknown conditions in the Soviet Union, but the depth of the current agricultural problem may be only partially known.

It is deep enough for the state planning commission to decide the 8.1 percent growth rate for consumer goods planned for the current five-year plan will be cut back to 4.5 percent in 1973. At the same time it is acknowledged that a number of food items, including potatoes, are scarce and may become less plentiful.

Much of the blame for Soviet agricultural failures is placed on uncooperative weather conditions. But the Soviet farm labor force is notoriously inefficiently organized, as are other segments. A prohibition on virtually all types of new construction was ordered when it was discovered more than one-fourth of the current construction budget is tied up in uncompleted projects, many of them long overdue.

These are the frank greetings the Russian people have received from their leaders on the 50th anniversary of the USSR's founding. It is plain to see why celebrations of the anniversary are not especially exuberant.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

At a meeting of the American Heart Association a few weeks ago, some very helpful information was released.

One report consisted of advice to patients who had recovered from heart ailments. They were urged to avoid carrying heavy parcels, even for a relatively short distance.

This additional weight can add a burden to the heart and produce the typical chest pains (angina pectoris) because of overexertion.

The shooting pains to the shoulder and to the arm is the body's cry for additional rest. The pains simply indicate that not enough blood and oxygen is flowing to the heart muscle.

Walking rapidly against the wind deprives the heart muscle of its oxygen. Eating a very heavy meal draws blood away from the heart muscle and sends it to the stomach for digestion of that meal.

Carrying a suitcase is compared to carrying the burden of unnecessary fat that is so injurious to the patient who has had a heart attack.

A study performed by Dr. David H. Jackson of Birmingham, Ala., on a group of healthy men about the age of 30 came to a most interesting conclusion.

Each person was asked to carry 40 pounds with all the weight in the right hand; then, with all the weight on his back; and later with twenty pounds in each hand.

The rise in blood pressure was higher and the heart rate increased more when the weight was all in one hand.

Perhaps all people, even those with normal hearts, would benefit by learning to carry heavy parcels distributed in both hands. Certainly, it is excellent advice for those who have any evidence of impaired circulation or heart disorders.

At the same meeting of the American Heart Association, undeniable evidence showed that heavy cigarette smoking was taking a heavy toll among younger women.

It seems that women are now catching up to men with sudden unexpected heart attacks. The increase during the past 20 years is attributed chiefly to cigarette smoking.

It had been relatively rare for women up to the age of 50 to die suddenly from heart attacks unless they had an associated medical problem.

Dr. David M. Spain, of the Brookdale Hospital Medical Center in Brooklyn, believes that cigarette smoking plays an ominous role in the creation of the new statistics about women and heart disease.

At the New Jersey School of Medicine, a related study seemed to indicate that high blood pressure may definitely be related to long-term cigarette smoking.

Decreased heart function was observed in experimental animals who were exposed to concentrated "Cigarette smoking."

Nicotine is believed to be the culprit that produced the hypertension and impaired heart function.

Dr. S. Sultan Ahmed believes that these findings can be translated to human beings as significant hazards.

Fuel For Boom Years

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

It's a strange world. Just as the New Deal soothsayers of the 1930's believed we had come into the Mature Economy, meaning that we had reached an end of growth, so the gloom-and-doomers of the present, including most of our more vocal environmentalists, have decided that we are about to enter what might be called a Housekeeping Economy. According to this latter-day crop of pessimists, we can't afford future economic expansion for fear of further messing up the landscape; the best that we can hope for is to clean up the pollution we now have.

If you talk to industrialists, however, you just know that the current pessimists are about to share the fate of the Mature Economy New Dealers. The restrictionist walls that the environmentalists have built are bound to crumble in short order once the magnitude of the coming energy crisis is realized. Already, in the Middle West and on the East Coast, the shortage of domestic natural gas is keeping householders and industries from expanding the use of a clean and potentially cheaper fuel. The domestic oil picture also looks bleak, and the failure to develop the North Slope oil field in Alaska hasn't helped.

The new 1973 automobiles, with their pollution-control motors and exhausts, are gas-guzzlers; big car owners are saying they are lucky to get seven miles to a gallon of gas, and even those with smaller cars have been complaining about an 11-miles-to-a-gallon top. The demand for cheaper fuel is bound to become a political issue within a couple of years.

The world market for the expansion of fuel production must willy-nilly touch off a tremendous boom in the mid-70s and early 80s. The Soviets want to be in on it; hence their angling for capital (and capitalist) investment to take Siberian oil and natural gas to tidewater for shipment to Japan and West Coast American ports. The Algerians have great natural gas deposits that must be marketed in Europe and on the U.S. East Coast. Nigeria is another potential natural gas producer. At the buying end, the U.S. must accept overseas gas in liquefied form or freeze to death.

What does this mean, specifically, in terms of capital outlay? It means drills, liquefying equipment, and — since the cost of transport is at least 50 per cent of the total cost of exploiting foreign natural gas in the U.S. market — it means huge LNG (Liquid Natural Gas) ships. Simply because the importation of fuel from foreign sources is bound to create a tremendous balance of payments problem, it stands to reason that most of our new LNG ships will be American-built and American-owned. Our inflation-fighters will insist on that.

It is virtually a sure thing, then, that our shipbuilding industry is in for a startling revival. The General Dynamics and Newport News shipbuilding companies are already producing LNG ships, and Avondale Shipyards in Louisiana and Sun Ship in Philadelphia are bidding for a place in the market. The projection is that $10,000,000,000 will be spent for 100 LNG ships by 1985.

The picture for investment in oil exploitation is just as rosy. Most of the big oil tankers are built in foreign yards, but Todd Ship is constructing six 80,000-ton tankers and Bethlehem Ship has three huge 250,000-ton VLCC (Very Large Crude Carriers) on order for an Israeli company. The world has 150,000,000 tons in tankers now, but the number will have to be doubled by 1985. The shipbuilding industry says this will mean $18,000,000,000 for U.S.-built oil tankers within a 12-year time-frame. Again, balance of payments necessity will compel home construction and operation of much of the oil tanker fleet.

It's a good prophecy, then, that the restrictionists have had their day. When enough householders become tired of shivering through the Northern Winter, the politicians will begin to listen.

Ask Legislation For Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newspaper publishers have asked Congress to pass a law to protect newsmen against compulsory disclosure of news sources and of unpublished notes and other materials.

A measure proposed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association on Wednesday would grant newsmen unqualified privilege from subpoena and would apply to any state or federal investigation or proceeding.

"Only legislation which grants an unqualified privilege from subpoena will achieve the fundamental purpose of assuring a free flow of information to the public," ANPA President Stanford Smith said in letters to the Senate and House judiciary subcommittee chairmen expected to handle the measure.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — It is at this time of year, when the mail brings bills rather than greetings, when reality closes in upon the spirit, that the working stiff takes pause to brood upon his financial plight.

The postholiday letdown may be responsible for the mood or probably it has something to do with early dusk and the realization that winter has just begun and that vacation time is months away and that junior needs his tuition money now and Uncle Sam wants his by April 15.

Whatever, it is a time when everyone needs relief from bleak reality, when the spirit craves an infusion of hope to nourish dreams. And so, here it is.

Would you like to become a millionaire? While you consider your response to this perplexing question, here is some factual information on how it might be done, depending upon your age.

If you are young enough, say 25, you might accomplish this goal if you can invest $100 a month for 40 years, and never dip into it except for taxes.

If you're middle-age you may have to settle for less, something ranging from a half-million dollars down. But your approach would be the same — to set aside $100 a month every month and never vary from that schedule.

The advice comes from a noted stock market authority, a conservative investor with a fascination for slide rules and the magic of compounding, a man who began his own advisory service because Wall Street gave him opinion rather than fact.

John Winthrop Wright describes the plan in his book, "Q-V-T, The Three Keys to Stock Market Profits." "Q-V-T," or quality, value, timing, is the basis of his investment philosophy.

"In the stock market," says Wright, "the competent investor can expect an average total return — dividends and capital appreciation — of from 8 per cent to 10 per cent a year." This from blue-chips, not speculations.

"By following sound, proven, professional investment methods he can increase that return to as much as 15 per cent a year. At that rate, he can double his money every five years if he compounds his profit.

"With an investment of as little as $100 a month and immediate reinvestment of all dividends and capital gains, a 25-year-old person can be worth just about $1 million by retirement at age 65.

"His total investment from personal savings will be only $48,000; the $1 million will be net, after payment for all income taxes!"

This is how your money would grow, assuming you achieve that 8 per cent or 15 per cent return each year and reinvested all dividends and capital gains. Brokerage commissions are deducted, but taxes are not.

At an average annual return of 8 per cent, compounded quarterly, your original investment after 20 years would be $24,000 but it would have a market value of $58,132. After 30 years, $36,000 and $146,477. After 40, years $48,000 and $341,549.

If you achieve a 15 per cent return, and Wright maintains you should strive for nothing less, your original investments would be the same, of course, but your market values would be $144,103 after 20 years, $655,000 after 30, and $2,883,924 after 40.

Now the taxes. If you earned 15 per cent for 40 years and paid income taxes from your portfolio each year, your net worth would be just under $1 million. This assumes taxes will remain about where they were in 1970.

However, if you prefer to borrow against the portfolio to pay your taxes each year and then pay only interest on the loans until you make a total repayment at age 65, you would have a portfolio of close to $2 million.

Feel better? Now get to work.

A single hyena during the day is relatively harmless, but there is nothing more lethal than a pack of 20 or so hyenas at night.

The shipbuilding industry says this will mean $18,000,000,000 for U.S.-built oil tankers within a 12-year time-frame. Again, balance of payments necessity will compel home construction and operation of much of the oil tanker fleet.

It's a good prophecy, then, that the restrictionists have had their day. When enough householders become tired of shivering through the Northern Winter, the politicians will begin to listen.

Ask Legislation For Reporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Newspaper publishers have asked Congress to pass a law to protect newsmen against compulsory disclosure of news sources and of unpublished notes and other materials.

A measure proposed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association on Wednesday would grant newsmen unqualified privilege from subpoena and would apply to any state or federal investigation or proceeding.

"Only legislation which grants an unqualified privilege from subpoena will achieve the fundamental purpose of assuring a free flow of information to the public," ANPA President Stanford Smith said in letters to the Senate and House judiciary subcommittee chairmen expected to handle the measure.

After months of work by Service Director Clearance Helvering to obtain necessary government permits to repave Pleasant St., the government cancelled all unstarted project permits.

Police Chief W. F. McCrady and the Circleville Police cracked down on double parkers. McCrady stated Double parking is a thing of the past in Circleville. All police are ordered to issue a ticket and fine a $1 to offenders. But the double parkers eventually found a way of beating the system, through courtesy passes.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — They say that what you don't know can't hurt you. If that is true, then it must also be true that what you don't do can't harm you.

Acting on that theory, I plan to stay out of trouble, because in 1973 I'm not going to —

Get in a dogfight with Lassie.
Snap Mae West's garter.
Ask my landlord to repaint my apartment.

Steal the keys to Ft. Knox.
Mark graffiti on the walls of the Taj Majal.

Become a munitions salesman in Indochina.

Become a tree surgeon and perform an appendectomy on an oak tree.

Tweak the muscles of a 90-pound weakling at the beach.

Drag a red, white or blue herring across anybody's trail.

Pick out a mobster.

Put a fight with City Hall.

Entice away any gangster's moll.

Denounce in print motherhood or the federal highway program.

Buy a pig in a poke.

Plant weeds in any man's garden.

parlor unless it has been given a seal of approval by the king of Sweden.

Bear false witness against my neighbor who, after all, outweighs me by 30 pounds, is 20 years younger, and also had a longer reach and used to box in college. Why would I want to lie about a nice guy like him?

Weigh a butcher's thumb in the balance and find it wanting.

Make any blind dates at cocktail parties where everybody gets blind.

Kite a check.

Perform any miracles in the office. If you perform one miracle in the office, the next day they expect you to perform two — and three on the day after that.

Count the calories of my dieting friends. There's nothing more fruitless.

Tell my boss that I've been watching his work, too, and that it also could bear a little improving.

Hide my light under a bushel — or my money under a mattress.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service's summary of Ohio weather:

A cold and snowy weekend is in prospect for Ohio.

A low center developing Friday morning along the Texas coast is expected to move northeast into northern Alabama by Saturday morning. Snow will spread over Ohio tonight and continue over the state on Saturday. Along the Ohio River snow may be mixed at times with sleet or rain.

Skies are cloudy over most of Ohio and a few light snow flurries have been reported in the northwestern part of the state. Temperatures were mostly in the 20s early this morning ranging from 19 at Findlay to 33 at Marietta.

Afternoon highs are expected to be in the 30s except in the northwest and extreme north where the mercury will not rise out of the 20s. Tonight's lows will range from the teens in the extreme northwest to the upper 20s in the southeast. On Saturday high temperatures will probably be a few degrees lower than today.

As the low pressure center continues to the northeast clearing skies will drop the mercury into the teens over most of the state Saturday night with 5 to 10 above likely in the extreme northwest.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged In Church Of Bible Covenant

MRS. RODGER BOVARD

The wedding of Miss Bonnie Jones and Mr. Rodger Bovard took place 1:30 p.m., Nov. 25th, in the Church of The Bible Covenant in Tarlton before the altar adorned with arrangements of orange, yellow and white mums. White satin bows marked the pews.

The Rev. David Thomas of Bartelsville, Okla., and the Rev. Thomas Park of Greenfield, Ind., performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. George Thress of Tarlton and Mr. Ray Jones of Columbus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Bovard of Rising Sun, Ind.

Selections included in the program of music preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Danial Thomas, pianist, and the Rev. Gerald Mersnum, vocalist, included "Because," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white crepe floor length gown trimmed in cotton and acetate lace. The empire bodice was accented with a stand-up lace collar and lace forming a deep v-shaped yoke and enhancing the long, fitted sleeves.

The A-line skirt, gathered at the back, flowed softly into a chapel length train with a wide ruffle of matching lace around the bottom. The sash encircling the waist was tied in a bow at the back. A pearl encrusted tiara held the bride's elbow-length illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a yellow throated white orchid corsage.

Maid of honor, Miss Becky Denton of Peoria, Ill., wore an orange and white polyester knit gown. The orange empire bodice with long, full sleeves, v-neckline and tiny buttons accenting the front, topped her orange and white flowered skirt. She carried a bouquet of orange and yellow mums.

Mrs. Rogert Tatman of Greenfield, Ind., was matron of honor, dressed identically to the maid of honor and carrying a matching bouquet.

Flower girl was Miss Becky Park. She was dressed as the honor attendants and carried a basket of flower petals which she scattered down the aisle to the altar.

Friends Surprise Mrs. Anderson On Her Birthday

A group of friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson on Thursday evening to surprise Mrs. Anderson, who was observing her birthday.

Marriage Vows Are Exchanged
In Church Of Bible Covenant

MRS. RODGER BOVARD

The wedding of Miss Bonnie Jones and Mr. Rodger Bovard took place 1:30 p.m., Nov. 25th, in the Church of The Bible Covenant in Tarlton before the altar adorned with arrangements of orange, yellow and white mums. White satin bows marked the pews.

The Rev. David Thomas of Bartlesville, Okla., and the Rev. Thomas Park of Greenfield, Ind., performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mrs. George Thress of Tarlton and Mr. Ray Jones of Columbus, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbert Bovard of Rising Sun, Ind.

Selections included in the program of music preceding the ceremony by Mrs. Danial Thomas, pianist, and the Rev. Gerald Mersnum, vocalist, included "Because," "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a white crepe floor length gown trimmed in cotton and acetate lace. The empire bodice was accented with a stand-up lace collar and lace forming a deep v-shaped yoke and enhancing the long, fitted sleeves.

The A-line skirt, gathered at the back, flowed softly into a chapel length train with a wide ruffle of matching lace around the bottom. The sash encircling the waist was tied in a bow at the back. A pearl encrusted tiara held the bride's elbow-length illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a yellow throated white orchid corsage.

Maid of honor, Miss Becky Denton of Peoria, Ill., wore an orange and white polyester knit gown. The orange empire bodice with long, full sleeves, v-neckline and tiny buttons accenting the front, topped her orange and white flowered skirt. She carried a bouquet of orange and yellow mums.

Mrs. Rogert Tatman of Greenfield, Ind., was matron of honor, dressed identically to the maid of honor and carrying a matching bouquet.

Flower girl was Miss Becky Park. She was dressed as the honor attendants and carried a basket of flower petals which she scattered down the aisle to the altar.

Mr. Roger Tatman served as best man and groomsman was Mr. William Sillings of Indiana. Ushers were Mr. Mike Jones, brother of the bride, and Mr. Tim Bovard, brother of the bridegroom, from Rising Sun, Ind.

The bride's mother selected for her daughter's wedding an A-line dress with an empire waistline and long sleeves of royal blue polyester knit.

Mrs. Bovard was in an orange double knit dress with long sleeves, brown bow at the neckline and accessories of brown. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A reception in the National Guard Armory near Tarlton immediately followed the ceremony. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with bride and groom figurines, was flanked with crystal candlesticks holding orange tapers.

Hostesses were Mrs. Ronald Jones, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Herbert Dyke, Miss Nancy Ayers and Mrs. David Hatz. Presiding at the guest register and distributing packets of rice were Miss Sheryl Thress and Miss Patti Jones, sisters of the bride.

The new Mrs. Bovard is a graduate of Logan Elm High School. Mr. Bovard graduated from Rising Sun High School and is engaged in dairy farming. The couple now resides at Route 1, Rising Sun, Ind.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: the Rev. and Mrs. David Thomas and family, Bartlesville, Okla.; the Rev. and Mrs. Tom Park and family, Greenfield, Ind.; the Rev. and Mrs. Melvin Wentworth and family, Vivay, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bovard, Elanger, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Gale Bovard and family, Rising Sun, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Slack and family, Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Brady and Mrs. Gladys Phillips, all of Rising Sun, Ind.; Mrs. Cleo Bailey, Florence, Ind.; Miss Martha Lewis and Miss Kathy Julips, Vevay, Ind.; Mrs. Chester Denton and Becky, Peoria, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Tatman, Greenfield, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. William Sillings, Knightstown, Ind.; Mrs. Albert Thress, Nelsonville and Mrs. Barbara Dyke, Grove City.

Parole Rule Clarified

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Persons convicted under organized crime statutes must be "treated the same as other criminals" regarding parole, says U.S. Atty. Stanley B. Miller.

Miller responded Wednesday to a request for clarification from U.S. District Court Judge S. Hugh Dillin. He said some officials believed that persons sentenced under the federal anti-organized crime laws are not eligible for parole after serving one-third of their sentence, but must serve a longer term.

But Miller said that was not so. Parole determinations are made on an individual basis, he said, although previous criminal records and other factors may delay the parole.

Dillin asked for the clarification after he sentenced four men to prison for conspiring to burn down a Kenton, Ohio, warehouse to collect $320,000 in insurance money.

Recover Bodies Of 3 Youngsters In Drowning

PAULDING, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of 17-year-old Judy Hanenkratt and her two brothers, Robert, 12, and James, 6, were recovered from a creek here Thursday. Rescue operations had been underway for the three since their auto plunged into the creek Tuesday.

The Paulding County Sheriff's office reported that the bodies were found between 9:50 and 10:04 p.m. Thursday.

Judy Hanenkratt was driving the car when she apparently lost control and went through a bridge over Flat Rock Creek on Ohio 637, authorities said. The car was recovered the next day.

The bridge is about a half mile from where the victims lived at Rt. 3, Paulding, with their father, William.

Dayton School Chief Out Of Job July 1

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—School Supt. Wayne Carle, 42, who has been at odds with some board of education members over desegregation policies in the 50,000-student Dayton system, was fired Thursday.

The board voted 4-3 in favor of the dismissal, effective June 30. Members voting for the dismissal said, "Dr. Carle does not follow the policies of the Dayton School Board."

Carle has held the post for five years.

Nudist-Camp Probe

TRENTON (AP)—The New Jersey Division on Civil Rights temporarily has suspended its investigation into charges that a Mays Landing nudist camp practices sex discrimination.

"It's a little difficult to investigate a nudist camp in the winter," a spokesman said Wednesday.

Queen And Heath

Badgered By Crowd

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister Edward Heath were the objects of boos and jeers as they attended the opening of a month-long festival to celebrate Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

Some 200 antimarketeters who gathered about the entrance to the Covent Garden Opera House also threw some stink bombs during the demonstration Wednesday night.

Festival Proposed

To Save Terminal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Mayor Theodore Berry has proposed that a festival be held March 31 to raise funds to prevent the Cincinnati Union Terminal from being torn down.

Berry made the suggestion in a letter to a group called Save the Terminal, Inc. Berry said the festival could also be held as a celebration for the terminal's 40th anniversary.

Mysterious Ailment Fells Noted Churchman

NEW YORK (AP)—A rising, new leader on the American religious scene has been mysteriously put out of action.

He is the Rev. Dr. Kent S. Knutson, who only two years ago emerged from the academic realm to become president of the American Lutheran Church and an increasingly influential figure in interdenominational affairs.

But last October, he began suffering from a puzzling ailment. Doctors have been completely baffled at diagnosing it. The effects steadily have worsened.

"The cause is unknown," say medical authorities at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., after weeks of tests in an unsuccessful effort to determine what's causing the problem. "There is no specific treatment available."

Under the circumstances, the Council of his 2.5-million-member denomination last week, in a decision reached by crosscountry telephone conference, concluded he no longer is able to fill the duties of office.

To take them over, the church's vice president, the Rev. Dr. David Preus, pastor of the University Lutheran Church of Hope, Minneapolis, Minn., was designated acting president on an interim basis.

Considered a conservative in church matters, Preus had been among competing candidates for the presidency at the time of the election in 1970 of Dr. Knutson, regarded as a moderate.

It had been Dr. Knutson's evenly tempered approach to various church issues, including ecumenical relations and application of the Gospel to social concerns, that had given him a growing stature in the religious world.

Both an engaging, easy-mannered diplomat and a highly trained scholar, he had become a rallying point for reconciling divergent views both in Lutheran and inter-Christian affairs.

His own denomination, a middle-road communion between the other major branches of Lutheranism in this country, had become increasingly an axis for deepening relationships among them.

Altogether there are nearly 9 million Lutherans in the country, including the 2.8 million in the conservative Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod and 3.1 million in the more liberal Lutheran Church in America.

Just last fall, when talks seeking unity among them broke down, it was a mediating plan put forward by Dr. Knutson that revived the conversations on a modified basis.

His new book on clarifying theology in modern times, "The Shape of the Question," issued by Augsburg Press, also has gained considerable attention.

In replacing him, Dr. Preus, will remain vice president, but assume the functions of president. He is a cousin of the head of the controversy-beset Missouri Synod denomination, the Rev. Dr. J. A. O. Preus.

Meanwhile, Dr. Knutson, a relatively young man of 48 and with all the bright promise of his recently begun ecclesiastical leadership, has been knocked out of it by his strange affliction.

It first began bothering him after he returned from a world tour last July and August on which he had visited church institutions and attended meetings in Indonesia, Hong Kong, New Guinea, Australia and India.

The initial symptom was a low-grade fever which he couldn't shake off. He presided over his denomination's convention Oct. 4-10 without noticeable trouble, but gradually he found his reflexes and muscular controls hampered, particularly in speaking.

He entered St. Marys Hospital, a part of Mayo Clinic, Oct. 23 and observations and analyses since then have failed to identify the ailment. The doctors say only it is an "unusual disorder of the central nervous system."

Its main symptom has been his inability to formulate words orally, or write them out by hand, although he can still move his limbs, and at times, sit up. Doctors say his condition has continued to deteriorate.

Born in Goldfield, Iowa, he was theology professor at Lutheran Seminary, St. Paul, and president of Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, prior to becoming his denomination's president.

His wife, Norma, who has kept an almost constant vigil at his bedside, said in a letter to the denomination's pastors:

"Medically, the news of Kent's

battle is grim. The doctors can do nothing to stem the destructive process which is quickly taking his life. In my confusion and despair, I throw myself on Jesus Christ, my Lord, who is Kent's Lord and the Lord of the Church, and put everything in his hands. ..."

Arms Talk Chief Resigns Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gerard C. Smith, who has been chief U.S. negotiator in nuclear arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, has resigned his post, administration sources said today.

Smith, 58, a former New York City lawyer, had served in government posts going back to the Truman administration, including service on the Atomic Energy Commission.

He had been director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency since 1969 and headed the negotiating team that made the historic breakthrough with the Soviet Union, resulting in agreements limiting defensive nuclear weapons and a freeze on offensive missiles for a five-year period.

Evel Knievel Escapes Blast, Fire Injury

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Stuntman Evel Knievel has escaped injury in an accident that caused some $6,000 in damage to his $200,000 jet-powered motorcycle.

Knievel was sitting on the vehicle while it was being refueled Wednesday when there was an explosion and fire.

Sweeping Credit Revision Proposed By Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national commission has proposed major revisions in the consumer-credit field to make credit cheaper and easier to get, but members said the panel was not unanimous in its recommendations and urged caution in adopting them.

The head of the National Commission on Consumer Finance said in a report to Congress Wednesday that the chief goal is to promote greater competition in the consumer-credit market.

"Only once workable competition is achieved can rates be left free from regulation," said commission chairman Ira M. Millstein, a New York City attorney.

The panel urged free entry into the market by small-loan companies, savings and loan firms, banks on competitive terms and retail businesses.

The commission, created by Congress in 1968, is composed of three members appointed by the president, three senators appointed by the president of the Senate and three congressmen named by the speaker of the House.

In its lengthy report, the commission made 85 recommendations to safeguard both consumer and lender rights including elimination of harassing collection methods and restrictions on such practices as garnishment and repossession.

"Because credit is so important to American consumers, the commission believes that it should be available to every credit-worthy applicant on a nondiscriminatory basis," the report said.

It urged states to prevent "widespread instances of unwarranted discrimination in the granting of credit to women," and called for treatment of the basic causes of poverty and unemployment to handle the problem of granting more credit to poor people.

Drunk Driver Success Seen

CINCINNATI (AP)—A project cracking down on drunk drivers contributed a great deal toward reduction of the city's traffic fatalities in 1972, the program director feels.

"We are very optimistic after one year of operation that we are on the right track," Seth Staples, head of the Alcohol Safety Action Project, said Thursday.

The number of fatalities in 1972 was 83, down seven from the 90 fatalities in 1971. Eighty-one fatalities occurred here in 1970, and 73 in 1969.

Meanwhile, under ASAP which started early in 1972, there were nearly four times as many drunk driver arrests as in all of 1971, Staples said.

There were 2,906 arrests in 1972 compared to 587 in 1971, and Staples said, "Fully 70 per cent of all DWI — driving while intoxicated — arrests were not accident related, meaning that drunken drivers were apprehended before they had a chance to cause an accident."

ANOTHER YEAR OF SERVICE

Of course no one at the bank today can remember what conditions really were sixty-one years ago when The Savings Bank came into being. No doubt many conditions were the equal of conditions we recognize today. Circleville area people needed a dependable, safe place to maintain their savings. Others needed the expertise of INTERESTED, informed bankers to assist them in arriving at decisions concerning their financial well-being. Many needed the wide and varied loaning ability that only a local bank sixty-one years ago could advance . . . and only a bank like the Savings Bank even today can offer. But, assuredly, Circleville area people wanted a bank they could call "My bank".

We trust that we have fulfilled this obligation for the past sixty-one years and look forward to the next sixty-one years as further serving you, the Circleville area people, with the finest banking service we know how to offer.

He said some officials believed that persons sentenced under the federal anti-organized crime laws are not eligible for parole after serving one-third of their sentence, but must serve a longer term.

But Miller said that was not so. Parole determinations are made on an individual basis, he said, although previous criminal records and other factors may delay the parole.

Dillin asked for the clarification after he sentenced four men to prison for conspiring to burn down a Kenton, Ohio, warehouse to collect $320,000 in insurance money.

Recover Bodies Of 3 Youngsters In Drowning

PAULDING, Ohio (AP)—The bodies of 17-year-old Judy Hanenkraft and her two brothers, Robert, 12, and James, 6, were recovered from a creek here Thursday. Rescue operations had been underway for the three since their auto plunged into the creek Tuesday.

The Paulding County Sheriff's office reported that the bodies were found between 9:50 and 10:04 p.m. Thursday.

Judy Hanenkraft was driving the car when she apparently lost control and went through a bridge over Flat Rock Creek on Ohio 637, authorities said. The car was recovered the next day.

The bridge is about a half mile from where the victims lived at Rt. 3, Paulding, with their father, William.

Dayton School Chief Out Of Job July 1

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—School Supt. Wayne Carle, 42, who has been at odds with some board of education members over desegregation policies in the 50,000-student Dayton system, was fired Thursday.

The board voted 4-3 in favor of the dismissal, effective June 30. Members voting for the dismissal said, "Dr. Carle does not follow the policies of the Dayton School Board."

Carle has held the post for five years.

Nudist-Camp Probe

Gets Frozen Out

TRENTON (AP)—The New Jersey Division on Civil Rights temporarily has suspended its investigation into charges that a Mays Landing nudist camp practices sex discrimination.

"It's a little difficult to investigate a nudist camp in the winter," a spokesman said Wednesday.

Queen And Heath

Badgered By Crowd

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prime Minister Edward Heath were the objects of boos and jeers as they attended the opening of a month-long festival to celebrate Britain's entry into the European Common Market.

Some 200 antimarketees who gathered about the entrance to the Covent Garden Opera House also threw some stink bombs during the demonstration Wednesday night.

Festival Proposed

To Save Terminal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Mayor Theodore Berry has proposed that a festival be held March 31 to raise funds to prevent the Cincinnati Union Terminal from being torn down.

Berry made the suggestion in a letter to a group called Save the Terminal, Inc. Berry said the festival could also be held as a celebration for the terminal's 40th anniversary.

Mysterious Ailment Fells Noted Churchman

NEW YORK (AP)—A rising, new leader on the American religious scene has been mysteriously put out of action.

He is the Rev. Dr. Kent S. Knutson, who only two years ago emerged from the academic realm to become president of the American Lutheran Church and an increasingly influential figure in interdenominational affairs.

But last October, he began suffering from a puzzling ailment. Doctors have been completely baffled at diagnosing it. The effects steadily have worsened.

"The cause is unknown," say medical authorities at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., after weeks of tests

in an unsuccessful effort to determine what's causing the problem. "There is no specific treatment available."

Under the circumstances, the Council of his 2.5-million-member denomination last week, in a decision reached by crosscountry telephone conference, concluded he no longer is able to fill the duties of office.

To take them over, the church's vice president, the Rev. Dr. David Preus, pastor of the University Lutheran Church of Hope, Minneapolis, Minn., was designated acting president on an interim basis.

Considered a conservative in church matters, Preus had been among competing candidates for the presidency at the time of the election in 1970 of Dr. Knutson, regarded as a moderate.

It had been Dr. Knutson's evenly tempered approach to various church issues, including ecumenical relations and application of the Gospel to social concerns, that had given him a growing stature in the religious world.

Both an engaging, easy-mannered diplomat and a highly trained scholar, he had become a rallying point for reconciling divergent views both in Lutheran and inter-Christian affairs.

His own denomination, a middle-road communion between the other major branches of Lutheranism in this country, had become increasingly an axis for deepening relationships among them.

Altogether there are nearly 9 million Lutherans in the country, including the 2.8 million in the conservative Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod and 3.1 million in the more liberal Lutheran Church in America.

Just last fall, when talks seeking unity among them broke down, it was a mediating plan put forward by Dr. Knutson that revived the conversations on a modified basis.

His new book on clarifying theology in modern times, "The Shape of the Question," issued by Augsburg Press, also has gained considerable attention.

In replacing him, Dr. Preus, will remain vice president, but assume the functions of president. He is a cousin of the head of the controversy-beset Missouri Synod denomination, the Rev. Dr. J. A. O. Preus.

Meanwhile, Dr. Knutson, a relatively young man of 48 and with all the bright promise of his recently begun ecclesiastical leadership, has been knocked out of it by his strange affliction.

It first began bothering him after he returned from a world tour last July and August on which he had visited church institutions and attended meetings in Indonesia, Hong Kong, New Guinea, Australia and India.

The initial symptom was a low-grade fever which he couldn't shake off. He presided over his denomination's convention Oct. 4-10 without noticeable trouble, but gradually he found his reflexes and muscular controls hampered, particularly in speaking.

He entered St. Marys Hospital, a part of Mayo Clinic, Oct. 23 and observations and analyses since then have failed to identify the ailment. The doctors say only it is an "unusual disorder of the central nervous system."

Its main symptom has been his inability to formulate words orally, or write them out by hand, although he can still move his limbs, and at times, sit up. Doctors say his condition has continued to deteriorate.

Born in Goldfield, Iowa, he was theology professor at Lutheran Seminary, St. Paul, and president of Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, prior to becoming his denomination's president.

His wife, Norma, who has kept an almost constant vigil at his bedside, said in a letter to the denomination's pastors:

"Medically, the news of Kent's

battle is grim. The doctors can do nothing to stem the destructive process which is quickly taking his life. In my confusion and despair, I throw myself on Jesus Christ, my Lord, who is Kent's Lord and the Lord of the Church, and put everything in his hands. ..."

Arms Talk Chief Resigns Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gerard C. Smith, who has been chief U.S. negotiator in nuclear arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, has resigned his post, administration sources said today.

Smith, 58, a former New York City lawyer, had served in government posts going back to the Truman administration, including service on the Atomic Energy Commission.

He had been director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency since 1969 and headed the negotiating team that made the historic breakthrough with the Soviet Union, resulting in agreements limiting defensive nuclear weapons and a freeze on offensive missiles for a five-year period.

Evel Knievel Escapes Blast, Fire Injury

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Stuntman Evel Knievel has escaped injury in an accident that caused some $6,000 in damage to his $200,000 jet-powered motorcycle.

Knievel was sitting on the vehicle while it was being refueled Wednesday when there was an explosion and fire.

Sweeping Credit Revision Proposed By Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—A national commission has proposed major revisions in the consumer-credit field to make credit cheaper and easier to get, but members said the panel was not unanimous in its recommendations and urged caution in adopting them.

The head of the National Commission on Consumer Finance said in a report to Congress Wednesday that the chief goal is to promote greater competition in the consumer-credit market.

"Only once workable competition is achieved can rates be left free from regulation," said commission chairman Ira M. Millstein, a New York City attorney.

The panel urged free entry into the market by small-loan companies,

Drunk Driver Success Seen

CINCINNATI (AP)—A project cracking down on drunk drivers contributed a great deal toward reduction of the city's traffic fatalities in 1972, the program director feels.

"We are very optimistic after one year of operation that we are on the right track," Seth Staples, head of the Alcohol Safety Action Project, said Thursday.

The number of fatalities in 1972 was 83, down seven from the 90 fatalities in 1971. Eighty-one fatalities occurred here in 1970, and 73 in 1969.

Meanwhile, under ASAP which started early in 1972, there were nearly four times as many drunk driver arrests as in all of 1971, Staples said.

There were 2,906 arrests in 1972 compared to 587 in 1971, and Staples said, "Fully 70 per cent of all DWI—driving while intoxicated—arrests were not accident related, meaning that drunken drivers were apprehended before they had a chance to cause an accident."

Knight Travel Office Declines Ticket Outlet

Knight Travel Service, at 206 S. Court St., did not accept the position as a local box office for Columbus-based Central Ticket Office.

The local business was contacted to serve in this capacity, but declined the offer. At the immediate time, there is no Circleville business serving as a Central Ticket Office outlet.

ANOTHER YEAR OF SERVICE

Of course no one at the bank today can remember what conditions really were sixty-one years ago when The Savings Bank came into being. No doubt many conditions were the equal of conditions we recognize today. Circleville area people needed a dependable, safe place to maintain their savings. Others needed the expertise of INTERESTED, informed bankers to assist them in arriving at decisions concerning their financial well-being. Many needed the wide and varied loaning ability that only a local bank sixty-one years ago could advance... and only a bank like the Savings Bank even today can offer. But, assuredly, Circleville area people wanted a bank they could call "My bank".

We trust that we have fulfilled this obligation for the past sixty-one years and look forward to the next sixty-one years as further serving you, the Circleville area people, with the finest banking service we know how to offer.

Young Voters Apathetic, Data Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau reports that less than half of the newly enfranchised voters from ages 18 to 21 cast ballots in the 1972 presidential election.

A report Wednesday showed 5.3 million youths in the 18-21 age bracket voted, which was 48.3 per cent of those eligible. It compared with a turnout of 71 per cent in the 45-64 age bracket, which had the best showing.

The over-all voter turnout was smaller in percentage terms in 1972 than in the 1968 presidential contest. The bureau said 63 per cent of the 132.3 million who were eligible actually voted in 1972, compared with a 67.8 per cent turnout in 1968.

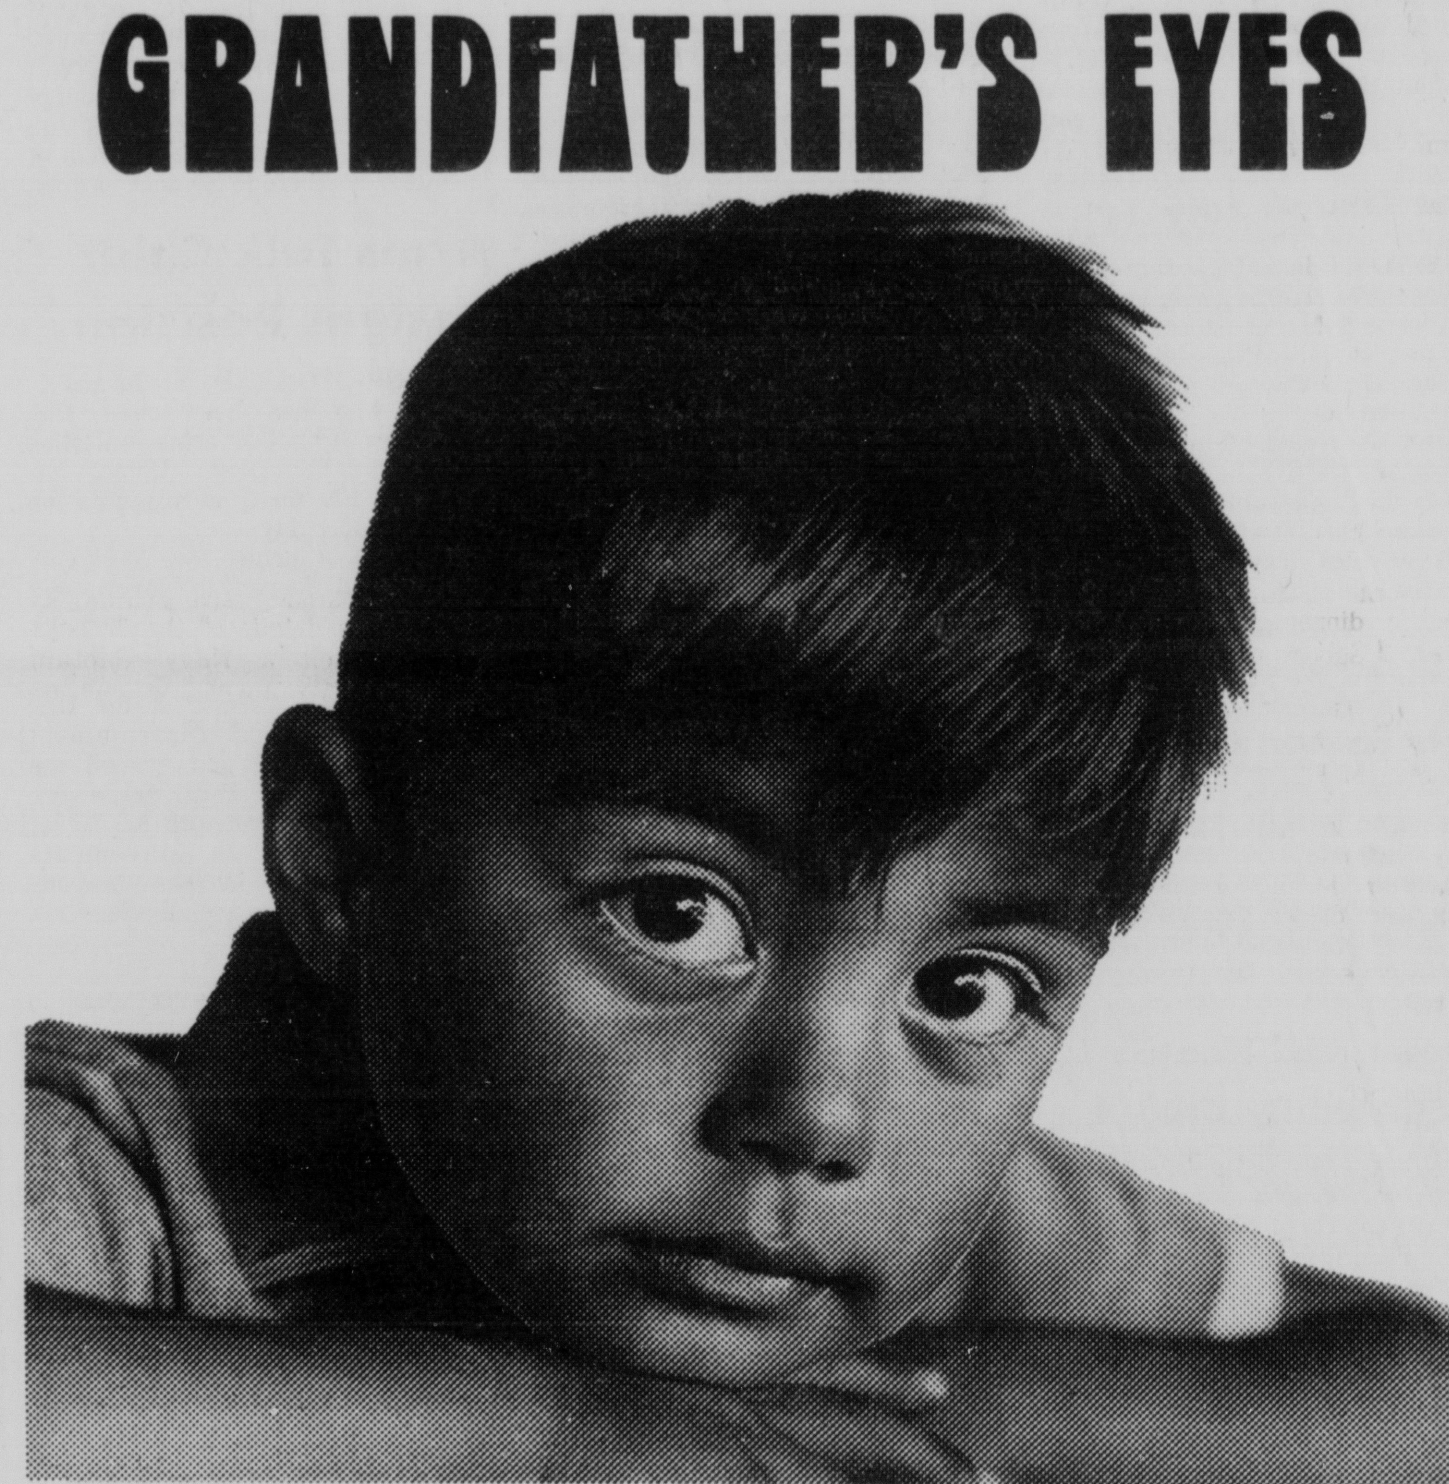

Although Census Bureau officials and politicians consider the first voting performance by sub-21 voters as dismal, they said it was indicated by previous census surveys and was not surprising.

The bureau by law is prohibited from gathering figures on how the sub-21 age bracket, or any other voting group, cast its ballots. It did not offer any speculation on the reason for the low turnout in the sub-21 bracket.

The voting age was lowered from 21 to 18 by a constitutional amendment in time for the 1972 elections.

Voter participation was highest in the 45-64 age bracket with a 71 per cent turnout among the 42.3 million who were eligible to vote. There was a 51 per cent turnout out of 13.6 million eligibles in the 21-24 age bracket, many of whom also were first-time voters.

That's what Grandma always says — that I have Grandfather's eyes.

It's certainly a mixed-up world, isn't it? People having other people's eyes.

But they never say Grandfather has my eyes. I asked Dad about it.

Although he didn't answer directly, he did say that we all have to have faith and character worth passing on to our children. That's why we go to church.

Later it occurred to me: Someday, somebody will have my eyes . . . my faith.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Cheaper By The Dozen, But It's Crowded

DEAR ABBY: I have had it! I am fed up with people condemning my parents for having seven children. The first thing they ask is, "Are you Catholic?" (We're not—we're Protestant.) Then they make some dumb crack about my parents probably being hooked on sex or something. Well, I happen to know that my mother planned each one of us, and as long as my father can afford that many children, I don't think it's anybody's business.

My mother has never had to work outside the home one day after she was married, and that's more than a lot of mother's can say. If my parents can afford to have a dozen children, why should they be made to feel that they are taking up more space in the world than they're entitled to?

ONE OF SEVEN
DEAR ONE: If people continue to multiply at the present rate, this world of ours is going to be in serious trouble. For some up-to-date reading material on this subject, inquire at your public library.

DEAR ABBY: Six weeks ago (a week before she married my son) my daughter in law said she would like to call me by my first name since I was more like a friend than a mother. I said, "Fine. Whatever makes you comfortable."

The first time she called me "Nellie" it hit me wrong. I realized it really wasn't fine with me. I love her like a daughter, not like a friend, and I didn't feel comfortable being called "Nellie" by my daughter in law. I would rather she call me "Mom" or "Mother Smith" or even "Mrs. Smith" as she did before.

I have an idea she and my son cooked up this idea because he feels more comfortable calling her parents by their first name rather than "Mom and Dad."

Have you any suggestions? I want to resolve this before any more time passes.

NAME PROBLEM IN ILLINOIS
DEAR PROBLEM: Tell your daughter in law that you don't feel comfortable being called, "Nellie," and would she mind calling you "Mother Smith," "Mother Nellie, or something which you both feel comfortable.

DEAR ABBY: My almost-16-year-old daughter and her 18-year-old boy friend have the habit of lying down side by side on our very narrow couch while watching television. They don't get embarrassed when her daddy or I walk in and find them this way.

In some respect I may be old fashioned, but I think some things can go a little too far, and I don't like to see my daughter and her boy friend in that position. If they are that close in our home, I wonder how close they get when they are out on a date.

I don't like to be a square mother, Abby, but don't you think I should ask them to please sit up when they're watching TV?

WANTS TO DO RIGHT
DEAR WANTS: The position you describe is too close for comfort. Tell your daughter that she should keep both feet on the floor. And that goes for her boy friend, too.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TORN DAUGHTER IN HIGHLAND PARK": I can understand why your mother is bitter about your father, from whom she is separated, but she had no right to forbid you to invite him to your home. Tell your mother you will let her know ahead of time when your father will be there so she won't run into him.

Coxes Play Host

To Brezhnev Children

MOSCOW (AP) — Tricia Nixon Cox and her husband Edward have played host at a U.S. Embassy reception to the son and daughter of Soviet Communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev.

Among the guests Wednesday night were Galina Brezhnev, daughter of the Soviet leader; her husband, and Brezhnev's son Yuri.

Tangents

With repeats and re-runs the order of the day on TV from now on, you may wish to take one last backward look into the early days of radio broadcasting. Do you remember who Lamont Cranston was? Who played the part of radio's Perry Mason? If you answered Raymond Burr, you are completely wrong. Measured by the calendar, what radio serial was the longest running drama in American radio? Clue—it was dedicated to "the mothers and fathers of the younger generation and to their bewildering offspring." The answers to these questions and many other interesting items about radio broadcasting may be found in "The Big Broadcast, 1920-1950" a new, revised and expanded edition of "Radio's Golden Age" by Frank Buxton and Bell Owen. The book includes 150 photographs and 65 pages of half-tone illustrations.

"About Television" by Martin Mayer examines television by anecdote, personalities, gossip, and technical and economic background. Mayer discusses network news programs, talk shows, prime time shows like Flip Wilson's, soap operas, public television and cable TV.

Not only opera buffs, but readers of biography will enjoy "5000 Nights at the Opera" by Rudolf Bing. Sir Rudolf describes his clashes with the Board of Directors and the performers at the Met. He gives details of his famous feud with Maria Callas and others. The book is written with wit and style, and has been on national best seller lists for some weeks.

Ohio's own Earl Wilson takes a gossip look behind the scenes in "The Show Business Nobody Knows." He tells about the early night club era, the big name bands, talk show personalities, and the rise of the black stars. He gives insights both shocking and heart-warming into the lives of Howard Hughes, Marilyn Monroe, Elizabeth Taylor, Bogie and Bacall. Illustrated with photos.

Movie star, Joan Blondell, has written a somewhat autobiographical novel called "Center Door Fancy." It relates the life story of a girl born into a vaudeville family, and how via the Miss America contest she achieves movie stardom.

"Report to the Commissioner" by James Mills is the story of an idealistic and hip young New York detective. This young man solves the case he was expected to fail on, and plunges the police department into scandal.

Neil Sheehan's "The Arnhelter Affair" is the incredible, true story of an extraordinary sea drama. It recounts the details of the 99 days during which a Navy Captain singlehandedly turned a routine Vietnam shore patrol into one of the biggest fiascos in modern military history.

To give you personal guidance in the new year, try "Nutrition and Your Mind." George Watson, an eminent pioneer in the important new field of psychochemistry reveals how what you eat — or don't eat — can directly affect your mind, your emotions and the kind of person you are.

Law Frees Torturers On Probation

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — As required by state law, two boys have been placed on probation instead of in jail for beating, raping, robbing and burning an 84-year-old widow in a housing project last November.

The defendants, 11-year-old Victor Arce and 10-year-old Ronald Irby, pleaded guilty and were put on probation Tuesday by Common Pleas Court Judge Vito N. Pisciotto.

"In the case of a youth under 12 years old, the state can't commit him unless he has a prior contact with the authorities," said Lewis P. Mitrano of the district attorney's office. "Neither Victor Arce nor Ronald Irby had any prior record."

The youths and two other boys arrested in the incident, including Arce's 12-year-old brother Thomas, lived in the same project as the victim.

The youths had been charged with burglary, robbery, rape, assault with intent to ravish, vandalism, aggravated assault and battery, damage to private property and indecent assault.

Police said the woman let the boys into her apartment after they told her they would do her shopping for her.

During the next four days, police said, the boys took $200 of the widow's money, spraypainted graffiti on the walls, wrecked the apartment, raped her, cut her hair and burned her breast and stomach with matches and a heated steel comb.

Weather Warm In Leningrad

MOSCOW (AP) — The weather is so warm in Leningrad that mushrooms are growing in the woods there, Tass reported today.

The agency said this is the first time mushrooms have ever grown in January that far north in the Soviet Union.

Most of European Russia has been virtually without snowfall this winter. Normally the country is blanketed by snow in late fall and it stays until late spring.

Woman Lawmaker Needs Parking Spot

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Some legislative employees apparently haven't quite made the adjustment to women lawmakers in North Dakota. Rep. Elynor Hendrickson, a Republican from Grand Forks, says she asked the parking-lot attendant if the west lot at the Capitol was the space reserved for legislators. "Is your husband a legislator?" she said the attendant asked. "No," the representative replied. "Then you can't park here," she said the attendant advised.

Woman Lawmaker Needs Parking Spot

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Some legislative employees apparently haven't quite made the adjustment to women lawmakers in North Dakota. Rep. Elynor Hendrickson, a Republican from Grand Forks, says she asked the parking-lot attendant if the west lot at the Capitol was the space reserved for legislators. "Is your husband a legislator?" she said the attendant asked. "No," the representative replied. "Then you can't park here," she said the attendant advised.

SALTREEK VALLEY GRANGE
Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bumgarner were guests when Saltcreek Valley Grange met Tuesday at Saltcreek School. There were 18 members present.

Worthy Master Francis Fraunfelter conducted the business meeting. Paul Dunkle gave a report on the Grange Youth Conference at which members of Saltcreek Grange served the noon meal Saturday.

A demit was issued to Mrs. Wanda Butler. Thank you notes were read from Mrs. Donna Beougher for cards and gifts while she was ill and from Veterans Hospital for gifts to the veterans.

Pieta Goes On Display

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Michelangelo's Pieta will go on public display again in St. Peter's Basilica at the end of February, the Vatican said today.

The white marble statue, the only work signed by Michelangelo, was seriously damaged May 21 by a hammer-wielding Australian geologist, Laszlo Toth, 34. The vandal broke off the Madonna's left arm, dented her veil and chipped the left side of her face.

Brazilian-born Prof. Deoclecio Redig de Campos, director of the Vatican museums, said during a press showing that it took 10 technicians five months to restore the work.

The statue — 6 feet 7 in height and weighing 6,700 pounds — will be protected in St. Peter's chapel by a glass shield.

Wallace To Undergo 6th Operation Soon

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace will undergo a sixth operation as a result of wounds from a would-be assassin's bullet, but his press aide says the surgery is not serious or mandatory.

Billy Joe Camp said on Tuesday that the surgery "can be done any time." No date has been set.

Shula Coach Of Year; All-Pro Team Named

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

If students rant and rave and put on a demonstration they are called troublemakers and rightly so—But, “what drives the engine also pulls the caboose” and you can’t have the different sets of tracks for both.

The rules that are set up to guide student behavior should go double for coaches and members of the faculty as they are the ones who must show the younger generation that there is a reason for following the rules.

We continually hear complaints about the younger generation but what must they think when they see the older generation acting without restraint and good judgement?

What happened at the Rose Bowl was a regrettable incident and a little common sense on the part of all parties concerned could have averted the whole mess.

Woody Hayes has to realize that he is a colorful sports figure and is going to draw attention wherever he goes. He is not only the coach of a fine football team but also represents a great university and the loyal fans who follow the Buckeyes. Anything he does, good or bad, is going to be a reflection on all of them.

He is news and whether he likes it or not, he is going to be sought out by members of the press at any appearance. It is no secret that he doesn’t have much love for members of the fourth estate and has been quite rude and inconsiderate at post game press conferences.

However, he is also entitled to some consideration on the part of the press and there are times when he can’t be bothered or just doesn’t want to be bothered. It’s common knowledge that some members of the Los Angeles Times don’t care for Woody and use their questions as bait to upset the fiery grid mentor—They got the job done as Woody went for the bait like a hungry trout just recovering from a case of lockjaw and the conference turned into a fiasco.

It happened—Everyone’s sorry it happened—Let’s hope it doesn’t happen again.

Dale Carnegie’s book on “How to Win Friends”—Just a thought but could be!

Our “fearless” forecast—Tigers take two . . . Westfall rings the victory bell against Adena . . . Vikings will hood the Falcons . . . Braves gallop over Madison Plains.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

By HUBERT MIZELL,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Shula, who piloted the Miami Dolphins to professional football's first perfect regular season record in 30 years, was named National Football League Coach of the Year by The Associated Press today.

Shula edged Green Bay Coach Dan Devine by three votes in balloting by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. The Dolphins' boss received 28 votes to 25 for Devine. Chuck Noll of Pittsburgh was third with 12 votes, finishing ahead of Cleveland's Nick Skorich, who had six and George Allen of Washington, last year's winner, who had five.

Informed of the selection of his 43rd birthday, Shula, who is readying his Miami club for their second straight Super Bowl, was pleased. "It's a great honor," he said. "But what it really means is a lot of hard work by a lot of people. It's been a successful season but it won't mean a whole lot until we bring the world championship to Miami."

Memphis State In 'Super' Victory Over Vanderbilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Memphis State keeps chalking up "super" and "great" victories in college basketball— and on the road, too.

"This was a super win" said Coach Gene Bartow in Nashville Saturday night after the Tigers had knocked Vanderbilt out of the unbeaten ranks.

"It was a great one to win" Bartow said in Des Moines Thursday night after the Tigers had beaten Drake 97-92 in two overtimes for their sixth straight triumph.

Saved from defeat by Bill Laurie's basket with one second left in the first overtime that tied the score at 84-84, Memphis State won on eight straight points by sub Billy Buford in the second OT.

"We were very fortunate, we just seem to keep hanging in there," said Bartow in the wake of the Tigers' successful opening in the tough Missouri Valley Conference after surviving a late Drake rally that wiped out a 14-point deficit and tied the regulation game at 71-71.

Louisville defeated North Texas 76-69 sparked by 20 points from soph Junior Bridgeman and Tulsa tripped Bradley 82-73 behind Willy Biles' 25 points in two other MVC openers.

North Carolina, No. 9 in the Associated Press rankings, crushed Furman 100-67 behind an all-around attack that made Joe Williams.

Furman coach, term the Tar Heels "one of the best teams in the country."

Southwestern Louisiana, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, whipped Pan American 86-75.

Dwight Lamar led the No. 8 Ragin' Cajuns to their seventh straight victory with 23 points.

San Francisco, No. 12, downed Seattle 66-60 and No. 13 Providence whacked Rhode Island 79-59 behind 30 points by Kevin Stacom.

A 20-foot jumper with two seconds left gave Texas Tech an upset 59-57 victory over Creighton, a blocked shot by Jimmy Moore with 38 seconds left saved Utah State's 91-87 overtime victory over Southern Mississippi and Ozie Edwards' two free throws in the last 12 seconds gave Oklahoma City a 76-75 squeaker over Puget Sound.

The nation's leading scorer, James "The Fly" Williams, scored 34 points to lead Austin Peay over Tusculum 128-52. Another freshman, 7-foot-1 Robert Parish, scored 33 points and pulled down 21 rebounds to pace Centenary over Arkansas 80-72.

Tiger Wrestlers At Home Saturday

Coach Brent Bell and his Circleville High School wrestling squad will open the home season 1 p.m. Saturday when the Tigers host Teays Valley and Columbus Central in a triangular meet.

when Cincinnati took a 50-40 margin. Dickey had 14 rebounds, and the Bearcats held the edge on the boards 65-42.

Cincinnati Coach Gale Catlett said, "I was pleased. We played a good game. But it wasn't our best."

Howard missed the game because of an injury as Haley wanted to make sure he would be healthy for Bowling Green's Mid-American Conference clash against Miami Saturday.

"I'm not so sure I wouldn't have done it myself," Catlett said about Haley's decision not to play Howard Thursday night.

The Tigers have three meets under their belts, all away from home, and dropped a 31-27 decision to Marysville in their last outing, despite the fact that Red and Black grapplers captured seven matches. They were hurt by the fact that they don't have a 98-pound wrestler which resulted in a forfeit and only came up with two pins in the meet.

According to Coach Bell, Teays Valley is coming on strong with solid contenders in Bill Hurley, 145-pound; Jim Williamson, 167-pound; and Howard Reed, 185-pound. He feels that Central's power is in the 112-pound, 167-pound, 185-pound and heavyweight classes.

Tom Frericks and Dave Webb lead the Tigers with identical 5-0 records, Steve Watters is 4-1 while Gary Mogan and Jim Payne both have 3-2 marks.

Cincy Zooms Past BGSU 100-70 In Ohio Cage Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

One year hasn't altered the admiration Bowling Green Coach Pat Haley has for the Cincinnati Bearcats.

"I said last year it was my opinion Cincinnati was the No. 1 college basketball team in Ohio," Haley recalled after the Bearcats zoomed by Bowling Green 100-70 Thursday night. "Maybe I do something to Cincinnati, but that's what I think."

The Bearcats, who defeated the Falcons by 11 points in their meeting last season, were paced by 22 points each by Lloyd Batts and Derrek Dickey.

In other games involving Ohio teams Thursday night, Case Western Reserve also hit the century mark in downing Oberlin 100-81. Case got 20 or more points from three players including Russ Drake with 24 points.

Host Marietta won the Marietta Shrine Basketball tournament with an 83-68 decision over Waynesburg. Art

Clark topped Marietta with 20 points in the game following Dickinson College's 84-82 overtime victory over Bethany in the consolation contest.

Jim Foster tallied 21 points to lead host Steubenville over Indiana State of Pennsylvania 59-42.

Wright State parlayed a balanced attack to nip Thomas More of Northern Kentucky 78-70 in a game at Dayton.

Hiking its record to 9-1, Muskingum rolled over Ohio Northern 73-49 as Gene Ford and Todd Brown scored 22 and 18 points respectively for the winners.

The first few minutes of the Cincinnati-Bowling Green game seemed to spell the fate of the Falcons who played without center Skip Howard, their top scorer with an average of 19 points a game.

The Bearcats jumped to 6-0 and 11-2 leads and were never headed as they boosted their record to 7-3. Batts tallied all his points in the first half

Little Tigers Stop Blue Lion Hoopsters

Circleville's seventh, eighth and freshmen cage squads all came up with big wins over Washington C. H. Thursday.

The seventh graders of Circleville led 10-9 at the end of the first period, trailed 22-21 at the half, were back on top 29-26 at the conclusion of the third frame and tallied 20 points in the final stanza to gain a 49-36 win.

Toren Bensonhaver led the Tigers with 18 points, Dave Marshall had 10, Larry Reed six, Roy Huffer five, Mark Albright, Fred Palm, Russell Weikert and Dave Holbrook each had two while Joe Mogan and Scott Willoughby both had one.

Circleville is now 3-0 for the season and will be at Greenfield Thursday. Bensonhaver was named offensive player of the week and Huffer defensive player.

The Tigers eighth graders stopped Washington C. H. 43-32. Brian Fath tallied 22 points, Bill Mogan nine, Frank Merrill six while Brian Price, Rusty Holbrook and Tom Taylor each netted two.

Circleville's freshmen upended an unbeaten Washington squad 58-43. The little Tigers led 15-6 at the first period buzzer, 31-17 at halftime, and held a 40-29 margin at the conclusion of the third canto.

OSU To Investigate Photog Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State President Harold Enarson said Thursday the university will conduct an investigation into the circumstances which led to the filing of a battery charge against football Coach Woody Hayes in Pasadena, Calif.

He said OSU Athletic Director Ed Weaver will conduct the inquiry and recommend what action, if any, the university should take.

Fraser each had 12, George Moore eight and Mike McCoy five.

John Wooden Talks About 60 Victories

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's top-rated basketball team has been inexorably moving toward the all-time collegiate record for consecutive victories, yet the Bruins head coach has ignored the obvious.

But no longer.

John Wooden is willing to talk about winning 60 games in a row to his players, "to sort of take the pressure off them."

UCLA has won 53 basketball games in a row. Tonight the Bruins tackle rugged Oregon in hopes of winning No. 54. Then Saturday night Oregon State is on schedule to become No. 55.

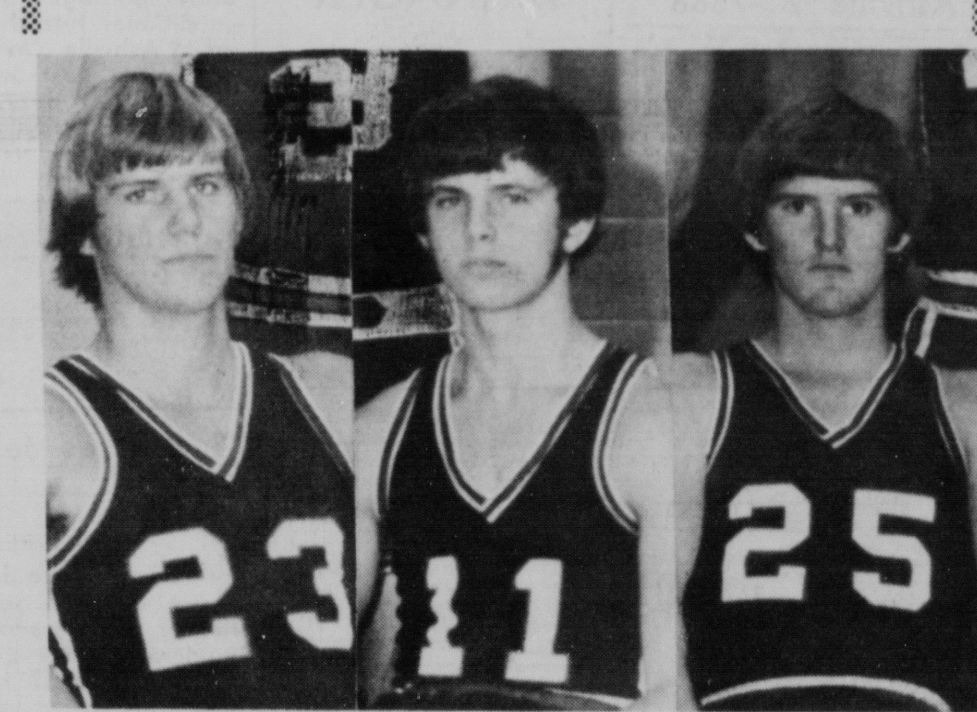

"To be perfectly honest with you, I really haven't thought about the streak until recently," Wooden said Thursday from his home in nearby Santa Monica.

"I always concentrate on our (Pacific-8) conference season because unless we win the title, we can't go on and play in the regional finals. So I had chosen to ignore the record because early in the season I do things that aren't predicated entirely on winning, just on preparing the team for the conference."

"But maybe it's about time I started mentioning it to my players. They read about the record all the time in the newspapers and hear about it on radio and television."

"If I mentioned the record to them, maybe it would relieve the pressure on some of the kids—you know, hearing the coach talk about it doesn't make it sound so impossible."

McDowell Cagers Divide Contests With Westfall

McDowell's seventh grade cagers rallied in the last quarter to upend Westfall, 30-26, while the Westfall eighth graders nipped McDowell, 34-32, in a pair of contests played at Jackson Thursday.

The seventh graders of McDowell ran their season record to 6-0 as they held a 4-2 lead at the end of the first period, trailed 12-11 at the half and were on the short end of a 20-14 count at the end of the third canto before coming up with a fourth period rally to gain the victory.

Jeff Collins and Tony Crist each tallied 12 points to pace the McDowell attack, Jerry Scanlon added three,

Lynn Strehle two and Rock Huggins one. Mallory led Westfall with 10 markers, List and Ruoff and McPe-Pherson each had four while Kern and Hurley netted two points apiece.

McDowell's eighth graders, 4-2 for the season, trailed 8-4 at the first period buzzer, took a 16-14 lead at the half, were on top 22-19 at the finish of the third quarter but saw the Mustangs rally to gain a 34-32 victory.

Chuck Cave, Randy Pontius and Mark Skinner each had eight points for McDowell, Tim Fouch added four and Steve Bowling two. Long paced Westfall with 12 tallies, Holbrook had eight, Schleich and Keller six apiece and Dotson added two.

Scott Cordray both netted one. Saxton had eight for the Falcons. Teays Valley is now 6-1 for the season and 6-0 in Metro play.

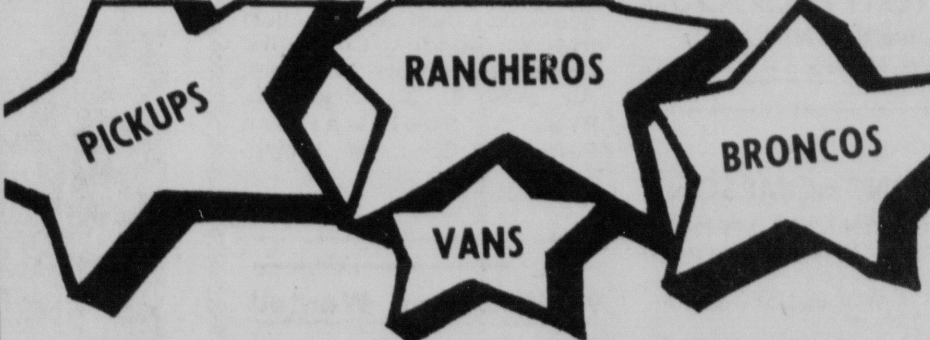

Teays Valley's eighth graders failed to score in the first period and trailed 15-0 at the buzzer, Chillicothe Smith led 23-9 at halftime and was on top 32-19 at the end of the third quarter.

Tim Tosca led the Vikings with nine points, Gregg Cline had seven, Charles Morrison six, Robby Anderson three, while Terry Trego, Jeff Voss and Jim Little each tallied two. Rick Turner had 15 and Rick Ray 12 to lead the Smith squad. The Vikings are now 1-4 for the year.

Shula Coach Of Year; All-Pro Team Named

Willie's Dillies

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

If students rant and rave and put on a demonstration they are called troublemakers and rightly so—But, “what drives the engine also pulls the caboose” and you can’t have the different sets of tracks for both.

The rules that are set up to guide student behavior should go double for coaches and members of the faculty as they are the ones who must show the younger generation that there is a reason for following the rules.

We continually hear complaints about the younger generation but what must they think when they see the older generation acting without restraint and good judgement?

What happened at the Rose Bowl was a regrettable incident and a little common sense on the part of all parties concerned could have averted the whole mess.

Woody Hayes has to realize that he is a colorful sports figure and is going to draw attention wherever he goes. He is not only the coach of a fine football team but also represents a great university and the loyal fans who follow the Buckeyes. Anything he does, good or bad, is going to be a reflection on all of them.

He is news and whether he likes it or not, he is going to be sought out by members of the press at any appearance. It is no secret that he doesn’t have much love for members of the fourth estate and has been quite rude and inconsiderate at post game press conferences.

However, he is also entitled to some consideration on the part of the press and there are times when he can’t be bothered or just doesn’t want to be bothered. It’s common knowledge that some members of the Los Angeles Times don’t care for Woody and use their questions as bait to upset the fiery grid mentor—They got the job done as Woody went for the bait like a hungry trout just recovering from a case of lockjaw and the conference turned into a fiasco.

It happened—Everyone’s sorry it happened—Let’s hope it doesn’t happen again.

Dale Carnegie’s book on “How to Win Friends”—Just a thought but could be!

Our “fearless” forecast—Tigers take two . . . Westfall rings the victory bell against Adena . . . Vikings will hood the Falcons . . . Braves gallop over Madison Plains.

Until next time, have a nice day-be a good sport.

Don Shula, who piloted the Miami Dolphins to professional football’s first perfect regular season record in 30 years, was named National Football League Coach of the Year by The Associated Press today.

Shula edged Green Bay Coach Dan Devine by three votes in balloting by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. The Dolphins’ boss received 28 votes to 25 for Devine. Chuck Noll of Pittsburgh was third with 12 votes, finishing ahead of Cleveland’s Nick Skorich, who had six and George Allen of Washington, last year’s winner, who had five.

Informed of the selection of his 43rd birthday, Shula, who is readying his Miami club for their second straight Super Bowl, was pleased. “It’s a great honor,” he said. “But what it really means is a lot of hard work by a lot of people. It’s been a successful season but it won’t mean a whole lot until we bring the world championship to Miami.”

Memphis State In 'Super' Victory Over Vanderbilt

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Memphis State keeps chalking up “super” and “great” victories in college basketball— and on the road, too.

“This was a super win” said Coach Gene Bartow in Nashville Saturday night after the Tigers had knocked

Vanderbilt out of the unbeaten ranks. “It was a great one to win” Bartow said in Des Moines Thursday night after the Tigers had beaten Drake 97-92 in two overtimes for their sixth straight triumph.

Saved from defeat by Bill Laurie’s basket with one second left in the first overtime that tied the score at 84-84, Memphis State won on eight straight points by sub Billy Buford in the second OT.

“We were very fortunate, we just seem to keep hanging in there,” said Bartow in the wake of the Tigers’ successful opening in the tough Missouri Valley Conference after surviving a late Drake rally that wiped out a 14-point deficit and tied the regulation game at 71-71.

Louisville defeated North Texas 76-69 sparked by 20 points from soph Junior Bridgeman and Tulsa tripped Bradley 82-73 behind Willy Biles’ 25 points in two other MVC openers.

North Carolina, No. 9 in the Associated Press rankings, crushed Furman 100-67 behind an all-around attack that made Joe Williams.

Furman coach, term the Tar Heels “one of the best teams in the country.” Southwestern Louisiana, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, whipped Pan American 86-75.

Dwight Lamar led the No. 8 Ragin’ Cajuns to their seventh straight victory with 23 points.

San Francisco, No. 12, downed Seattle 66-60 and No. 13 Providence whacked Rhode Island 79-59 behind 30 points by Kevin Stacom.

A 20-foot jumper with two seconds left gave Texas Tech an upset 59-57 victory over Creighton, a blocked shot by Jimmy Moore with 38 seconds left saved Utah State’s 91-87 overtime victory over Southern Mississippi and Ozie Edwards’ two free throws in the last 12 seconds gave Oklahoma City a 76-75 squeaker over Puget Sound.

The nation’s leading scorer, James “The Fly” Williams, scored 34 points to lead Austin Peay over Tusculum 128-52. Another freshman, 7-foot-1 Robert Parish, scored 33 points and pulled down 21 rebounds to pace Centenary over Arkansas 80-72.

CARROLL RICHTER'S
HOROSCOPE
from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The best way to use this Saturday to advantage is to contact those you already regard as friends, or wish to have for friends, so forget all but essential tasks, and get out with people you like and enjoy the recreations pleasing to them.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Contact those you know are loyal to you and gain their support for some plan you have in mind that can be mutually helpful. Understand your truest aims, and take the right steps toward attaining them.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If you consult with a prominent expert, you can find out how to become more successful in your career. Be sure your credit is in good condition. Avoid one who likes to make life difficult for you.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are inspired now about just how to gain your fondest aspiration, so use all the inventiveness for which you are famous. Go to the right sources for any information you may need. A calmer attitude is important.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Follow your hunches, since they are most accurate now. This can be helpful in career matters and in personal ones as well. Reach a true understanding with mate in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Good day to find out just what is expected of you by all partners, whether personal or business and try to please them. Go over contracts and make improvements thereon. Stop wasting time foolishly.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have fascinating work to do for which you have little time during week, so get at that enthusiastically today. Spare time should be spent shopping. Get your wardrobe more up to date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Good day for going to favorite places with people who give you the greatest pleasure, but take mate along. Some slight risk can lead to something fine. Avoid one who likes to argue too much.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Being cooperative with kin and making the necessary repairs to home is your best avenue of expression during day. Some opportunity arises that can help you advance more quickly in your field of activity. Make good use of it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Fine day for driving out to see people who are difficult to contact during busy work week. Get the information you need so you can advance more quickly. Don't fall asleep at the wheel in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan how to improve your financial situation so you need not have to worry about essentials. Take time to improve anything you possess. Your appearance needs toning up, also.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make new friends who can fit into your scheme of things for the future. Attend group gatherings where you can meet fine individuals. State your aims to the right persons and get their cooperation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Consult with specialists in your field of work who can give you the advice you need just at this time so you can get ahead faster. Follow your intuition for good results. This is true also where the romantic side of life is concerned.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those dynamic young people who will want to be busy at work on something all the time, so don't try to change your youngster, or you ruin the excellent promise in this chart, the ability to find the strong points that will lead early to choosing and enjoying a fine profession. Permit many playmates to be around early so the art of successful human association will be learned while young. Sports are a must here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service Board is meeting today in the first round of an off-camera debate over who will have the major say in what programs we see on public television.

Round two occurs Jan. 10 when the parent Corporation for Public Broadcasting holds its board meeting to decide what role, if any, PBS should have in future program decisions.

What both sides will consider and vote on are policy statements on exactly who should make most of those decisions — the corporation or the PBS and managers of public television stations.

The corporation, founded by Congress to administer the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967, will have the final word. Henry Loomis, its new president, says the board wants to "define" the role of PBS.

But he insists this is only because of sloppy business arrangements between PBS and the CPB and not because the board is angered at the often controversial affairs shows approved in past years by PBS.

He says both agencies have confused, overlapping functions in such areas as legal counsel, public relations and program review and "at the moment nobody knows who's responsible for what."

And, he says, "that's the real problem. We've had some Government Accounting Office auditors here and they are totally aghast at the sloppy business practice that has existed between us and PBS. And I don't blame them."

"Because we've given PBS nine million bucks a year on the strength of a very flimsy three-page letter. And I wouldn't give nine bucks to my son with as little guidance."

But Hartford Gunn Jr., PBS president, says "it seems to me the problem is whether the corporation's 15 presidential appointees are going to make program decisions."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service Board is meeting today in the first round of an off-camera debate over who will have the major say in what programs we see on public television.

Round two occurs Jan. 10 when the parent Corporation for Public Broadcasting holds its board meeting to decide what role, if any, PBS should have in future program decisions.

What both sides will consider and vote on are policy statements on exactly who should make most of those decisions — the corporation or the PBS and managers of public television stations.

The corporation, founded by Congress to administer the Public Broadcasting Act of 1967, will have the final word.

Henry Loomis, its new president, says the board wants to "define" the role of PBS.

But he insists this is only because of sloppy business arrangements between PBS and the CPB and not because the board is angered at the often controversial affairs shows approved in past years by PBS.

He says both agencies have confused, overlapping functions in such areas as legal counsel, public relations and program review and "at the moment nobody knows who's responsible for what."

And, he says, "that's the real problem. We've had some Government Accounting Office auditors here and they are totally aghast at the sloppy business practice that has existed between us and PBS. And I don't blame them."

"Because we've given PBS nine million bucks a year on the strength of a very flimsy three-page letter. And I wouldn't give nine bucks to my son with as little guidance."

But Hartford Gunn Jr., PBS president, says "it seems to me the problem is whether the corporation's 15 presidential appointees are going to make program decisions."

Jumbo Jet Hunt Yields No Bomb

ELLSWORTH AIR FORCE BASE, S.D. (AP) — Air Force specialists have found no trace of a bomb aboard a Trans World Airlines jumbo jet forced to land here by a threat of an altitude bomb. A TWA spokesman said the Boeing 747 would be searched again today.

The 233 persons aboard the Madrid-to-New York flight Thursday were reported calm during the flight here. The airliner was diverted to this western South Dakota air base after an anonymous phone caller in Spain said a bomb would explode if the plane descended to a level of about 3,100 feet. The altitude here is 3,200 feet.

The caller said he would tell where the bomb was located if the airline paid him 15 million pesetas ($232,500).

Crew Capt. Melvin Manning, 58, of Hopatcong, N.J., said he learned of the bomb threat about one hour out of Madrid.

Manning said the plane was routed to mile-high Denver but excessive head winds cut its fuel supply and the plane was diverted to Ellsworth.

Willis Baker, a passenger from Los Alamitos, Calif., said "just past Newfoundland the captain told us a man with a Spanish accent had phoned Madrid authorities to say a bomb was aboard which would detonate at a certain altitude. I guess there was some anxiety among those of us in the passenger area, but never anything approaching panic."

Legislative Budget Chief Hard To Find

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican leaders in the Ohio Senate are pushing efforts to find a new legislative budget officer after eight prospects have either turned down the job or been rejected.

The job has been vacant since Alvin Peterjohn quit early last year to take a Columbus city job. Senate Republican leader Ted Gray has told Senate Finance Chairman Max Dennis to start looking for a successor.

Legislative Research Commission Director David Johnston said a five-man budget office is funded, but nobody has been hired. He said the post's salary of $21,000 annually is too low to attract experienced budget analysts from other states.

Both the Democratic-controlled Ohio House and the Republican controlled Senate have an equal voice in hiring a budget director, but Democrats seem unconcerned.

House President Pro Tem Vernal Riffe, D-89 New Boston, said he isn't concerned about legislative staff, because Democrats can turn to the state Finance Department for budget advice.

Republicans are expected to object most to spending proposals from the Democratic administration, so the greatest pressure to fill the budget officer's job is coming from Republican quarters.

Burglars Strike Scioto Elks Club

Circleville police are investigating a breaking and entering and grand larceny at the Scioto Elks Club, 644 S. Scioto St., early Thursday morning.

A television set, adding machine, shotgun, 22 bottles of whiskey, six cases of beer and seven dollars in cash were taken in the burglary. Value was set at $626.02.

Gates were torn off a stockade fence and a window broken in a rear door to gain entry to the building. Inside doors were forced open and locks pried off several cabinets by the intruders.

Arrests

Patrick E. Darst, 24, 693 E. Mound St., 75 miles per hour in a 35 zone, reckless operation, failure to obey traffic officer, driving under suspension.

John E. Chandler, 29, Route 4, driving while intoxicated.

Truman Memorial Rites Are Held

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ranking government and foreign dignitaries, who weren't invited to the simple, private funeral last week for Harry S. Truman, gather at Washington Cathedral today to memorialize the 33rd president of the United States.

The 88-year-old Truman died Dec. 26 and was buried in the grassy courtyard of the library in Independence, Mo., that houses the documents and mementos of his life.

The former president had requested that only family and close friends attend the funeral service at the library.

Plans were made to hold a simultaneous memorial service in the nation's capital for the many government officials and representatives of foreign countries who wished to pay their last respects. But when Truman died during the holiday season after a long illness it was decided to postpone the service here until various officials returned to Washington after spending the holiday with their families.

Officiating at the interfaith service are the Rev. John E. Howell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Washington, which Truman attended as President; the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral; and the Right Rev. William F. Creighton, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Washington.

Reds Press Winter-Spring Drive With Viet Shellings

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces pressed their new winter-spring campaign into a third day today with nearly 100 more attacks reported across South Vietnam. Most were small-scale shellings.

The South Vietnamese command reported 97 enemy attacks during the 24-hour period ending at dawn, two-thirds of them by rockets and mortars.

During the two previous 24-hour periods there were 116 and 81 attacks.

Prior to this upsurge, the command had been reporting 40 to 50 attacks each 24 hours.

Walnut PTO To Adopt New Constitution

The new constitution and by-laws of the Walnut Elementary Parent Teacher Organization will be adopted at the 7:30 p.m. Monday meeting of that organization it was announced today.

The annual Walnut Consignment sale will be held March 10 and persons with large items or antiques for sale may contact the school for information.

Timothy A. Brigner, 16, of Route 1, Mt. Sterling and Donald Vanover, 18, of 214 Logan St., were each cited into the court on charges of reckless operation. Brigner had his license suspended for 30 days and Vanover was fined $25 and lost his driving privileges for 90 days. $15 of Vanover's fine was suspended.

Failure to yield to traffic brought a $15 fine and license suspension for Stanley Allen Reese, 17, of Ashville. Reese pulled from a private drive onto Route 188, causing an accident. The court suspended his fine and driver permit and suspended the boy's drivers license for a 30 day period after he receives it.

For John Robert McCoy and Stephen B. Fowler fines of $10 were suspended on separate traffic charges. McCoy, 17, of 382 Meadow Lane, was involved in an accident and cited for driving left of center. Fowler, 17, of 1107 S. Washington St., was cited for passing illegally at a railroad crossing.

Driving at a speed too great for road conditions was the charge filed against William Zeimer, 17, of Route 2, Ashville. The court suspended a $15 fine, but restricted Zeimer's driving privileges for work and traffic school only.

Seventeen-year-old Johnny Clifton, 453 E. Ohio St., pleaded guilty to following too closely on Route 23 and paid the penalty by loss of driving privileges for six weeks. He was given permission to drive to school, work and traffic school only.

Madison County authorities transferred a case here of Richard A. Kirk, 17, of 157 E. Watt St. The court levied a $15 fine for driving an unsafe vehicle, but suspended the fine.

A case against Karen Lynn Brown, 17, of Stoutsville, for driving without an operator's license, was transferred to Fairfield County.

Truman Memorial Rites Are Held

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ranking government and foreign dignitaries, who weren't invited to the simple, private funeral last week for Harry S. Truman, gather at Washington Cathedral today to memorialize the 33rd president of the United States.

The 88-year-old Truman died Dec. 26 and was buried in the grassy courtyard of the library in Independence, Mo., that houses the documents and mementos of his life.

The former president had requested that only family and close friends attend the funeral service at the library.

Plans were made to hold a simultaneous memorial service in the nation's capital for the many government officials and representatives of foreign countries who wished to pay their last respects. But when Truman died during the holiday season after a long illness it was decided to postpone Officiating at the interfaith service are the Rev. John E. Howell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Washington, which Truman attended as President; the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral; and the Right Rev. William F. Creighton, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Washington.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was expected to represent President Nixon, who flew to Independence to pay his respects before the funeral. Cathedral spokesmen said the nine justices of the Supreme Court, leaders of the House and Senate and numerous foreign dignitaries also would attend.

About 200 of the 2,000 seats in the tall, gothic cathedral were to be open to the public, and a lawn on the cathedral grounds was roped off to accommodate any overflow crowd.

Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland, President Zalm Shazar of Israel, Premier Kim Chong Pil of South Korea and Vice President Yen Chia-kan of Taiwan were among the ranking foreign officials scheduled to represent their governments at the service.

Truman's only child, Margaret Truman Daniel, and her husband, Clifton Daniel of The New York Times, were to represent the family. Mrs. Truman, the former president's beloved Bess, is 87, in frail health and was not expected to travel to Washington for the ceremony.

Mamie Eisenhower, widow of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, planned to accompany the Daniels. Eisenhower's funeral—like those of several other national figures—was conducted in the cross-shaped limestone church on Mount St. Alban in northwest Washington.

Reds Press Winter-Spring Drive With Viet Shellings

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces pressed their new winter-spring campaign into a third day today with nearly 100 more attacks reported across South Vietnam. Most were small-scale shelling.

The South Vietnamese command reported 97 enemy attacks during the 24-hour period ending at dawn, two-thirds of them by rockets and mortars.

During the two previous 24-hour periods there were 116 and 81 attacks.

Prior to this upsurge, the command had been reporting 40 to 50 attacks each 24 hours.

Many of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, against villages and district towns. At least five roads were reported cut.

The stepup in Communist attacks is believed to be a show of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong strength seeking to generate congressional pressure on President Nixon to end his support of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The Saigon command reported fighting in the northern quarter of South Vietnam below the demilitarized zone, in the central highlands and in the Mekong Delta. It claimed government forces killed 96 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in four clashes it termed significant. Government losses were four men killed and 23 wounded, the command said.

The U.S. Command reported one American casualty, a helicopter crewman slightly wounded by ground fire south of Da Nang. The OH6 observation helicopter was slightly damaged.

North Vietnam accused the United States of conducting aerial reconnaissance of "several localities in preparation for new acts of military adventure." The editorial in the army newspaper Nhan Dan indicated it was referring to flights above the 20th parallel, where Nixon halted the bombing last Saturday.

Navy Opens Recruiting Station Here

The U.S. Navy has opened a new Recruiting Branch Station in Circleville in an effort to meet the increased need for on the spot recruiters in this area. The new station will serve both Pickaway and Fayette Counties.

Petty Officer First Class David Glaser and Petty Officer Second Class Roy Gregg Jr. have been assigned to the station, located on the basement floor of the Post Office Building.

Both men have been recruiting in the central Ohio area for some time. Glaser has been serving with the Branch Station in Chillicothe while Gregg has been with the Lancaster recruiters.

The rapid growth of the population in the two county area plus the Navy's desire to provide maximum service to prospective enlistees, prompted the shift in the local recruiting structure.

Formerly, Pickaway County was served by the recruiters in Lancaster while Fayette County was handled by the Chillicothe Branch Station.

The change also entails a shift in recruiters for Washington Court House. Petty Officer Glaser will now be handling the Navy's business there on a part time basis. His schedule calls for him to be at the Post Office from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of each week.

Residents in Washington Court House can reach Glaser at other times by calling Circleville 474-1113 instead of the old Chillicothe number.

The new Circleville station is open daily from 8:30 to 5 daily and from 9 to noon on Saturday.
